OF THE

"NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS."

Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus enjoys the sunshine of popular favor. As to the popularity of its would-be rivals—that's moonshine.

It is of no use attempting to palm off upon the ladies the vile imitations of PHALON'S MATCHLESS NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS. Let imitators "chaff" as much as they will, our birds of beauty are too wide-awake to be caught with their clap-traps.

The imitators of Phalon's Night-Blooming CEREUS swear they are getting along charmingly. Echo, by way of putting them to the blush, answers "charming lie."

Why is Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus like egg-size coal? Because there's a grate demand for it.

Why is Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus like a prize cup at a horse-race? Because there's a tremendous run for it.

What is the difference between political trickery and PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS? One is a devilish finesse and the other a devilish fine essence.

Why does Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus resemble the bust of Liberty on the late issue of pennies? Because it is a head of all the new s(cents.)

Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus, although it does not add directly to the personal beauty of woman, certainly gives her a most agreeable air.

Why is a young lady who receives a present of PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS from her lover reminded thereby of her religious exercises? Because it is an "extract" from her favorite him.

Wherefore is Phalon's Night-Blooming CEREUS the very best perfume that can be used at a wedding? Because it is manufactured especially for people in the United States.

Why is Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus like "Lincoln's last!" Because it beats all its rivals in toe-toe.

The Imitators of Phalon's Night-Blooming CEREUS are on their last legs, and everybody is laughing at the poor feats in the counter*feiting* line.

Phalon's Night Blooming Cereus will one day be patronized by the fair sex throughout the world, from Miss Issippi to Bess Arabia.

Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus would have been a treasure even in the golden age, and even in this age of paper, the world gives it currency.

A Broad hint.—A Union officer who presented a bottle of PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS to a pretty girl up town the other day, was told by the blushing beauty that he was worthy of being a son of Ma's.

Mrs. Shoddy, an observing though uneducated woman, says that PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS must have "something into it," for at the theatre the other evening everybody was chatting about it in the paroquet.

"She's a Bloomer," said a Young Blood, pointing the attention of his friend to a lovely girl they were passing in the street. "No, she's not," was the reply: "she doesn't wear the unpronounceables." "Pshaw!" said the other; "she uses PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS, and we call all the girls who do so Bloomers, in our set." He had caught a whiff from Eden as she floated by.

What Song does the Perfume of Phalon's NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS recall? "Those Evening Belles! Those Evening Belles!" They all use it.

What Rebel does Phalon's Night-Blooming CEREUS, when presented to a young lady as a love gift, remind her of? Beau-regard of course.

Some People are for Giving all Perfumes a trial. Try all if you like, but if you try one, and that one PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS, your trials will be ended, for you will never wish to try further. Suppose you try.

Why is a Bottle of Phalon's Night-Blooming CEREUS when opened before breakfast, like the Ghost of Hamlet's father? Because it "scents the morning the air."

"Pompey, why am Phalon's Night-Blooming CEREUS like a gemman dat admires de fair sect?" "I gibs it up, Sam." Well, Pomp, its like a gemman as admires de fair sect, cos it sweet on de ladies. Yah! yah! yah!

Why is the Perfume of Phalon's Night-BLOOMING CEREUS like a criminal at the place of execution? Because, when the drop falls it is left hanging in the air.

Why is the fame of Phalon's Night-Blooming CEREUS like the breath of life? Because it is in everybody's mouth.

Why is Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus like a squad of policemen at a prize-fight? Because it is bound to take the "fancy."

How far can you smell the fragrance of PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS? The distance doesn't matter if you are in hailing of it.

Express the feeling created by Phalon's NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS in three letters. X T C.

If the world could be sprinkled with Night-BLOOMING CEREUS every morning, all the flowers would soon die of envy to find their own fragrance surpassed.

A bit of a paradox. The best proof of the popularity of PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS is, that it is universally miss-used.

Why is Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus like our National Debt? Simply because it involves no foreign obligation—we owe it entirely ourselves.

If You can buy a Concert Ticket and get a false jewel with it: but if you buy PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS, you can get a good vial in violin.)

Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus is continually rising—not in price—but in public estimation.

If You promise a Young Miss a bottle of PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS as a reward for learning her lessons, you will find it a powerful in-cent-ive to diligence.

Ladies, one drop of Phalon's Night-Blooming CEREUS on the little veils of "illusion" that curtain your fair faces at the opera, will convince the beaux that you are "all sweetness."

Why is a Lover who has won a Pretty Girl's heart by presenting her with a bottle of PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS, like a man going to France? Because he's bound to have her (Havre.)

Why is Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus like a ship near the Cape of Good Hope? Because a glorious trade-wind swells its sales.

A Distinction with a Difference. When a case of PHALON'S NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS is disposed of, it is a genuine sale, but when an imitation is foisted on the public it is a genuine sell.

Why is Phalon's Night-Blooming Cereus like the State of Missouri? Because the people are resolved to have it, regardless of Price!

SHERMAN'S MARCH.

His Rapid Progress Through Georgia.

Reported Capture of Milledgeville and Gordon.

Rumor that Sherman has Reached Our Prisoners.

Consternation in South Carolina and Georgia.

The Reserve Militia of Both States Ordered Out.

THE RICHMOND REBELS LESS DESPONDENT.

SHERMAN TO BE UTTERLY OVERWHELMED.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Nov. 27.

The following was received in Washington today:

FORTRESS MONROE, Saturday, Nov. 26.

The steamer Herman Livingston arrived at 6 P. M. with 753 exchanged prisoners. Two were lost on the passage; the remainder are reported to be doing well and improving very fast.

The Savannah Daily News of the 23d has the following telegraphic news:

AUGUSTA, Ga., Tuesday, Nov. 22.

The Central train from Davisboro reports that Milledgeville and Gordon were captured yesterday. The State House, Governor's mansion, and the Penitentiary were burned. Gen. WAYNE holds the Oconee bridge. Nothing from Macon.

Passengers on the Georgia road say that the train went to Greensboro to-day.

The enemy appear to have all gone in the direction of Milledgeville and Macon, but nothing certain is known.

The Augusta Constitutionalist of Monday evening says, that passengers by the Georgia train from last evening reported that the Oconee bridge, five miles above Gordon, was burned at noon yesterday by a small party of the enemy's cavalry, who retired, after they burned the bridge, to their camp on the north side of the river. The force of the enemy on the line of this road is estimated at 15,000, advancing slowly and cautiously.

The Governor of South Carolina has ordered the reserve militia of that State to assemble at Hamburgh.

Gov. BROWN, of Georgia, has issued a proclamation making a levy en masse of all citizens between the ages of 16 to 55, to serve for 40 days.

Capt. BAKER, of the Herman Livingston, says it was reported, before he left, that SHERMAN occupied Macon; that there were 2,500 Union prisoners at Macon on the way to Savannah to be exchanged, but the road being interrupted, they could not be brought through. Otherwise the exchange was going on well.

BALTIMORE, Sunday, Nov. 27.

The Annapolis correspondent of the Baltimore American telegraphs this evening as follows:

"The steamers Herman Livingston and Weybosset have arrived with 1,246 paroled prisoners from Savannah.

The Captain of the Herman Livingston reports that when he sailed on the 25th that the exchange of prisoners had ceased, as SHERMAN had cut off the railroad leading from Savannah, and had, it was thought, reached all the balance of our men, as he was only about six hours' march from the Stockades when the men who arrived in the Herman Livingston left them, though an effort was being made by the rebels to send our men to Florida."

REBEL ACCOUNTS.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Nov. 27.

I am indebted to the courtesy of the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer for the following extracts from late Richmond papers:

FROM GEORGIA.

From the Whig, Nov. 25.

Georgia is now the most interesting military field of the Confederacy. SHERMAN having discarded caution and boldly advanced into the interior, we would that without giving information to Yankees, who are now dependent upon Southern sources for information as to his movements, we could tell our readers where he is and how he is faring. It is sufficient to say, however, that there is nothing in the situation to cause even the least hopeful Confederate to fear, that the turn which the campaign has now taken in that quarter will not result most advantageously to our cause.

Instead of applying the torch to certain coveted cities in the Empire State of the South, we indulge the confident hope that Sherman will soon have to exhaust both his military skill and unquestioned energy in making good the retreat of the remnant of his defeated army.

LATEST FROM GEORGIA.

Just before going to press, we learned that the War Department had received information from Georgia of eminently encouraging character. We refrain from making a more definite statement of the news as it has reached us, but we are warranted in assuring our readers that the official advices from Georgia are as favorable as we could expect.

From the Sentinel, Nov. 25.

The intelligence from Georgia yesterday was very agreeable, and the hope grows more buoyant that SHERMAN will suffer severely for his audacity. A portion of his forces is understood to have been very heavily repulsed in an attempt to cross a stream. We forbear to give particulars of names and localities. Let our troops opposed to SHERMAN adopt sleepless activity for their motto; let them harass him with attacks, and harass him with alarms; harass him by day, and harass him by night; let them destroy supplies before him; let them block his roads, and resist his march at every practicable point. All this may be done independent of the heavier operations which we shall doubtless be able to direct against him. Break in upon his army, and there will soon be a grand hunt, free for everybody, and in which we hope everybody will join.

There is no confirmation of the report of the burning of Milledgeville.

STILL IN THE DARK.

From the Dispatch, Nov. 25.

We are still without any official information concerning SHERMAN's movements in Georgia, but we are not entirely without some authentic advices on the subject.

SHERMAN was, on yesterday, still west of the Oconee River, one of the tributaries of the Alatamaha, which runs southeast through the centre of the State of Georgia. Milledgeville is situated on the west bank of this stream. It is believed that the enemy has been to Milledgeville, though we are pretty well assured that no official information of this fact has been received at the War Office.

In the only brush we hear of our troops having with the enemy, they have been entirely successful. This affair occurred near Jonesboro, where the Central Georgia Railroad, running from Macon to Savannah, crosses the Oconee River. A considerable body of the enemy's cavalry attempted to cross to the east bank of the Oconee at this point on Wednesday morning, but were met by our troops and driven back.

The situation in Georgia is regarded in official circles as decidedly encouraging. There is one fact in the campaign which we think should give much ground for hope—the slow progress made by SHERMAN. He is now in his fifteenth day from Atlanta, and has as yet marched only about 75 miles, and has not reached one point of strategic importance. Perhaps he does not now, as when he started out on his expedition, feel himself positively master of the situation. We shall hear more from him in the next day or two.

FACTS AND RUMORS—MILLEDGEVILLE.

From the Enquirer, 24th.

"A repetition of the rumors concerning the occupation of Milledgeville by SHERMAN occurred yesterday; and as rumor, whether immediately correct or not, was accepted as a matter of course, we may suppose, for sake of hypothesis, as to the situation in Georgia, that the city has fallen. Of course, there could have been no determined resistance. This supposition gives color to the rumor that a strong force of the enemy has made a demonstration upon Augusta, within twenty miles of which place it is reported they were encountered by our troops, and that their left was driven back in confusion, and an assault by their right repulsed with some loss. Savannah being the objective point, this movement can only be called a feint, with the view of raiding upon Augusta and destroying it. It is believed that the large fleet which has been in preparation in the James River for some time past is intended to cooperate with SHERMAN."

From the Richmond Sentinel, Nov. 24.

It is reported that a force of cavalry entered Milledgeville, on Sunday night, Nov. 20, and burned the capitol and penitentiary. Milledgeville is a very small town of about twenty-five hundred inhabitants. Its only consequence is derived from its being the seat of government.

From the Richmond Whig, Nov. 24.

The War Department last night was without news from any quarter. It was rumored, however, yesterday, that the Yankees had occupied Milledgeville, Ga., and caused the Legislature of that State to "skedaddle."

From the Richmond Enquirer, Nov. 24.

Private dispatches received last evening are somewhat confirmatory of the statement published yesterday, that Macon has not been attacked by the enemy. We believe that by this time SHERMAN is some distance this side of Macon, and we believe, further, that he has not altogether failed to meet with opposition at a point on his route which will be nameless for the present. Augusta was "all right" last night, and every moment that passes increases the security of that point. Several of the dispatches concur in the declaration that SHERMAN's army is ruined. This is all the news from Georgia which we are disposed to publish this morning.

Persons who have an opportunity of ascertaining the situation of affairs in Georgia, are quite hopeful that Gen. SHERMAN will be brought to grief ere he reaches the coast.

SHERMAN'S PROGRESS.

Reports from Chattanooga.

Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.

CHATTANOOGA, Nov. 14, 1864.

Last Friday was the day fixed for the burning of Atlanta. This duty was assigned to the Fifteenth Corps, now consisting of the old Fifteenth and that portion of the Sixteenth Corps which was on this side the Mississippi. Marietta, Rome, Kingston, and all towns and villages on the railroad as far as some tenable place north of the Etowah River, were to share the same fate; and the railroad track was also to be destroyed to the same point. There is very little doubt but all this has now been done; and Resaca, on the Oostanaula River, or Dalton, will be our outpost in Georgia, for SHERMAN has now fairly cut loose, dissolved all connection with the rest of this great army, and is seeking the other side of the "Southern Confederacy," on the shores of the Atlantic Ocean. He is accompanied by the gallant and undaunted KILPATRICK, with upward of 6,000 cavalry, and incumbered only with such subsistence stores as coffee and sugar and the indispensable and the very suggestive article, salt. The Twentieth, Fifteenth, Fourteenth and Seventeenth Corps constituted the great bulk of the expedition—the Twenty-third and Fourth Corps remaining behind with Gen. THOMAS. Notwithstanding premature announcements of SHERMAN's departure, I have it from very good authority that he does not start until today; though the advance of his army may be one or two day's march on the road. The weather is dry and bracing, and in every respect suitable. Like old John Willet in Barnaby Rudge, SHERMAN is "gone to the Salwanners!"

REPORTS FROM LOUISVILLE.

Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 18, 1864.

To controvert false rumors in regard to SHERMAN, I hasten to send you the following facts.

I left Marietta, Georgia, Saturday evening, November 12, eight hours after the last railroad train going to Chattanooga. At two o'clock P. M. of that day, by a simultaneous movement, the railroad was destroyed from Atlanta to Ackworth. At the Etowah we met Gen. SHERMAN bringing up the rear of the column—JEFF. C. DAVIS' Fourteenth Corps—and as we passed, Ackworth, Cartersville and Calhoun were burning. On Sunday the bridges over the Etowah, and the railroad beyond, were to be destroyed. Atlanta smouldered in ashes on the 14th, and on the 15th the expedition cut loose from their communications. Their destiny is unkown. The best informed say it will go via Macon and Augusta to the Atlantic coast. This looks reasonable; for at Macon HOOD's communications with Richmond are cut, and Andersonville is located only a few miles below.

SHERMAN has the Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Seventeenth and Twentieth Corps, besides several thousand cavalry; is penetrating the vital part of the Confederacy, and sure to succeed. No wonder gold is drooping. HOOD is one hundred and fifty miles in his rear, with a large force under THOMAS to watch him. Verily the termination of this accursed rebellion is fast culminating.

On the 13th, our overland expedition, consisting of seventy-five persons, six guns, and the residue armed with sticks, walked from Ackworth to Calhoun, fifty miles. At Adairsville we barely escaped the rebel cavalry.

We were the last to leave the expedition, and know more of the condition of affairs than wild rumor indicates, and here you have it.

NOTHING DEFINITE.

From the Richmond Whig, Nov. 24.

There seems to be nothing definite from Georgia. The prevailing opinion, based upon all the information thus far received, is that SHERMAN has passed by Macon, and that he will move toward the coast, without hazarding an attack upon the defences of Augusta. He will of course desolate the country through which he passes.

Now if SHERMAN has really attempted so wild a mammoth raid, unless we are greatly deficient in forces in that quarter, his expedition will surely come to grief. We look hopefully to Georgia, and confidently expect great results before the close o the present campaign.

A Rebel Pirate Seen.

BOSTON, Sunday, Nov. 27.

The Dutch bark Judah Caffe, at this port, from St. Thomas, reports Nov. 18, lat. 32° 08' north, long. 73°, saw a steamer bearing toward us. She was a propellor of about 400 tons, schooner rigged, with two funnels, and painted white. When she got within two miles she fired a shot across our bow and hoisted the American flag. He inquired what news we had; we told him of the capture of the Florida. He then hauled down the American flag and hoisted the rebel flag, and asked if we had seen any vessels, to which we returned a negative reply. He then steered off southwest under sail.

The Asia at Boston.

BOSTON, Sunday, Nov. 27.

The Asia arrived at 8 o'clock this morning. Her mails will be forwarded by to-night's train, due at New-York Monday morning.

Wind northwest; thermometer 48°; cloudy all day.

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Tuesday, Nov. 22, 1864.

I.

My time was insufficient up to the closing of my last letter, to give you all the facts and material at my disposal concerning the cruel incarceration of our men at the Andersonville prison. The following letters conclude the record for the space of one month, of the treatment and sufferings of the prisoners, as detailed candidly and deliberately from day to day by the rebel surgeons in attendance:

MILITARY PRISON, Aug. 20, 1864.

As Medical Officer First Division, I have the honor to make the following report: Having visited and inspected the various wards, I find the tents generally in bad condition most all leaking, and the sick without anything to lay on; also find the most of the sick complaining for the want of something to eat, and very frequently the amount allowed them fails to get to them: also find the stock of medicines very deficient, especially astringents and emetics. I would most respectfully recommend that bunks or scaffolds be made for the sick, and get straw, or something to make them comfortable; also recommend that more beef tea be made, as all the sick much prefer it to any other nourishment allowed them.

(Signed,) W. J. REEVES,
Act. Asst. Surgeon.

To Dr. MCGILL, Medical Inspector.

HEADQUARTERS, ANDERSONVILLE PRISON,
Aug. 21, 1864.

SIR: As Division Officer of the Day, I have the honor to report as follows: The general appearance of the division is neat and cleanly, taking into consideration the means and material afforded. The policemen and other attendants do make it so.

I would again call your attention to the condition of the water barrels, and the importance of improvements. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

(Signed) R. M. PATTERSON,
Acting Asst. Surgeon.

To W. H. CRADELL, Surgeon Second Division.

C. S. HOSPITAL, 3D DIVISION, Aug. 21, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day, I have to report the tents in bad condition, many not affording any protection from rain, and would recommend the necessity of bunks, as the ground upon which the patients are lying, is now wet, and many are without blankets.

The police force have discharged their duties as faithfully as practicable. The attendants are also efficient and attentive.

(Signed) D. W. HALL, A. A. Surgeon
3d Division, C. S. M. P. Hospital.

To Dr. EILAND, Medical Inspector of the Day.

FEDERAL PRISON HOSPITAL,
ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 21, 1864.

SIR: I have the honor to report, and recommend as Officer of the Day, that physicians and attendants are punctual, and that straw and bunks for sick are much needed. I have the honor to be, your obedient servant,

(Signed) F. A. MCVEIGH,
Act.-Ass't Surgeon G. S. P. A.

To H. H. CRADELL, Assistant Surgeon in charge of Second Division Prison Hospital.

FEDERAL PRISON HOSPITAL,
ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 21, 1864.

Dr. Eiland:

SIR: I have the honor to report, as Officer of the Day, First Division, that I have examined the condition of the several wards, and find them in as good condition as could be expected.

I recommend that soap be furnished to each ward, and that lime be used more extensively in these wards which have had very little. Very respectfully,

(Signed,) P. B. STANLEY, A. A. Surgeon.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, Aug. 22, 1864.

Dr. W. McGill, Surgeon in charge of Third Division:

SIR: I have the honor to report that the sanitary condition of the division is not as good as it should be, from a want of a stronger police, to keep the streets cleaner, and a want of shovels and wheelbarrows. I would recommend an improvement in the condition of the tents, for the greater part of the patients are lying on the ground, and some of them not even a blanket to lie on. Respectfully submitted,

(Signed,) D. W. MASSEE, A. A. Surgeon.

ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 23, 1864.

W. H. Credell, Assistant Surgeon, in Charge of Third Division:

SIR: I have the honor to report, as Medical Officer of the Day for yesterday (the 22d.) I find that a goodly number of tents in your division are worn out, and dangerous for the sick to be in, on account of their falling down. I have had to throw away one in my ward, (3d,) in consequence of its decayed condition. I find that the supply of cooking utensils are entirely inadequate for the number sick, and that the sick are compelled to give away one-half of their flour to get it cooked. I therefore recommend that more cooking utensils be furnished, and more men be detailed to cook for them. Very respectfully, (Signed.) W. L. MILLS, A. A. Surgeon.

PRISON HOSPITAL, Aug. 23, 1864.

SIR: As Officer of the Day I have the honor to report the First Division in good condition.

Very respectfully your obedient servant,

(Signed) R. E. MUDD.

Surg. EILAND in charge.

ANDERSONVILLE, Aug. 23, 1864.

SIR: Acting as Medical Officer of the Prison in the interior, I find the interior in as good condition as circumstances will allow. I have nothing to suggest. Your obedient,

(Signed) S. S. BIRD.

To Dr. MCSWAIN.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, THIRD DIVISION,
Aug. 23, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day, I have to report that I find the tents in bad condition, still deficient in bunks. The streets were well cleaned, and the police work generally well performed. The Commissary Department is deficient in vegetables. The attendants are discharging their duties faithfully. There is need of police work about the dead-house, and a more prompt removal of the dead.

(Signed) D. W. HALL, A. A. Surg. 3d Division.

To Dr. MCSWAIN, Medical Inspector of the Day.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, Aug. 24, 1864.

SIR: Acting as Medical Officer of the Day for First Division, C. S. M. P. Hospital, I have the honor to report:

I find many of the tents in a leaky condition. In the eighth ward, tent No. 89 is unfit for further service, because it leaks and is rotten. I find many of the sick lying on the ground, and some of them without blankets.

I therefore recommend straw bedding. I have doubts whether we get beef enough for the hospital, having seen some of the patients' rations, and they are very small. I also recommend that corn meal be sent to the hospital, to the different wards, as they can sift it, and thereby make better bread than that used at present. Getting this would be a great advantage to the sick.

Which is very respectfully submitted.

(Signed) W. P. SHEPPARD,
Act. Asst. Surg. and Med. Officer of the Day.

Dr. E. D. EILAND, Surgeon in Charge First Div.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, THIRD DIVISION, Aug. 24.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day, I have the honor to report that I find the streets, owing to the absence of police, not in proper condition. Most of the tents are in good condition. There is great necessity for bunks in this division, also for more chambers.

In the Commissary Department I would suggest an increase of salt and vegetables for scurvy patients. There is need of police work about the dead-house; filth is accumulating there.

(Signed.) J. S. D. BERRYMAN,
A. A. Surgeon Third Division.

To Dr. MAGILL, Medical Inspector for the Day.

ANDERSONVILLE, Aug. 24, 1864.

Dr. McSwain:

SIR: As Medical Officer for the Day, I have the honor to report the following: I think the sanitary condition of the prison is in as good condition as can be under the circumstances.

(Signed) W. R. BAILEY,
Acting Assistant Surgeon.

MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT OF STOCKADE,
ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 24, 1864.

DEAR SIR: I visited the stockade by your order, in the discharge of my duty as Medical Officer of the Day for the past twenty-four hours. I find no change whatever in its sanitary condition. Respectfully yours,

W. R. D. THOMPSON, M. D.,
Acting Assistant Surgeon.

FEDERAL PRISON HOSPITAL, Aug. 24, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day, I have the honor to report the Second Division of the Prison Hospital in great need of lime, as well as a want of bedding and bunks. I would respectfully suggest that each division in the hospital be provided with cooking arrangements, in order to facilitate the more equal distribution of rations. We are short of many articles of medicine, which retards in a very great degree the progress of the medical officers in discharging their duties. The street deposits are also emptied too near the hospital, on the outside, which is likely to become a nuisance.

Respectfully, (Signed) L. J. KILPATRICK,
A. A. Surgeon C. S. M. P. Hospital.

Dr. W. H. CRADELL, in charge Second Division Federal U. P. Hospital.

C. S. PRISON HOSPITAL, ANDERSONVILLE,
Aug. 25, 1864.

SIR: Having been Medical Officer of the Day for the Second Division, for the past 24 hours, I have the honor to report that I find very little if any improvement since my last report. I find the first ward needing more plank for bunks, more bed sacks and straw.

The second ward needs bunks, bed sacks, straw and empty barrels holding water. The third ward needs the same; also the fourth ward. The fifth ward is greatly in need of bed sacks, straw, &c.; also, three large wall tents, there being that number unfit for use. The cooking department for the hospital is inefficient, and should be looked after immediately. The bread comes to us as bad as ever. I hope you will have it excluded from the diet list immediately, or have the meal bolted.

Respectfully, your obedient servant.

(Signed) A. THORNBURGH,
Assistant Surgeon, P. A. C. S.

W. H. CRADELL, Assistant Surgeon in charge of Second Division.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, THIRD DIVISION,
Aug. 25, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day, I have the honor to report that I find the tents in bad condition generally, with an increasing necessity for bunks. The police are discharging their duties well.

The attendants are also faithful in performance of their respective duties; there is still a deficiency of vegetables and salt, in the Commissary Department.

There is an accumulation of filth about the dead-house, and I would recommend a larger supply of lime used about this place.

(Signed,) D. W HALL,
A. A. Surgeon, Third Division.

To Dr. EILAND, Medical Inspector.

FEDERAL PRISON HOSPITAL,
ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer for the First Division Federal Prison Hospital, I have inspected the division and would respectfully report the need of barrels for holding water in the various wards. Many of the tents are still unsupplied with bunks or bedding. The diet for the patients is badly prepared, medicines entirely insufficient. We have a large amount of indigenous remedies, but no way of preparing them, to which I would respectfully call your attention. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

(Signed) J. C. PELAT,
Assistant Surgeon P. A. C. S.

Surgeon E. D. EILAND, in charge First Division, F. P. H.

ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 26, 1864.

W. H. Cradell, Assistant Surgeon in charge of Second Division:

SIR: I have the honor to report as Medical Officer of the Day, for the last twenty-four hours. I find that the police are discharging their duty very well, and everything is moving along smoothly.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, Aug. 26, 1864.

W. H. Cradell, Surgeon in charge of Third Division:

SIR: I have the honor to report that I find the sanitary condition of the division improving, but the division is yet in more need of implements for cleansing and ditching of the division. The hospital is very much in need of cooking utensils. Respectfully, (Signed,) D. W. MASSEE, A. A. Surgeon,
Third Division.

PRISON HOSPITAL,
ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 26, 1864.

Surgeon E. O. Eiland, in charge First Division:

SIR: I have the honor to report the following, as Medical Officer of the Day: Inspection of Hospital Wards—I find them in a bad condition generally—no bunks, beds, rations, &c. It is useless to make any suggestions, as there has been a sufficient number of suggestions made in previous reports.

(Signed) R. E. ALEXANDER, Asst. Surg'n.

P. S.—I therefore recommend one medical officer each day for the hospital, as I think it unnecessary for an officer for each division as one can transact all the business for the whole establishment.

Most respectfully,

(Signed,) R. E. ALEXANDER.

CAMP SUMTER, ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 26, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day, I have the honor to report that I have visited the Camp Sumter Prison, and find it is in as good condition as could be expected under the existing circumstances. I have not anything to suggest that would improve the sanitary condition of the prison.

I would respectfully recommend that an assistant be appointed to the wound-dresser attached to the prison, as he complains of being unable to go on without assistance, to discharge his duty to all who require his services without aid. THOMAS E. HATTER, 54, second detachment, Twenty-first Wisconsin Regiment, is recommended by the present wound-dresser as a fit person to assist him. All the medical officers attached to the Camp Sumter Prison were found present at sick-call, with the exception of Drs. WILLIAMS, HAIDSMAN, HOWELL and RICE.

Very respectfully, (Signed) F. J. WELLS.
Acting Assistant-Surgeon, C. S. A.

To B. S. HERNDON, Surgeon, and in charge sick-call.

OFFICE SECOND DIVISION, CONFEDERATE STATES
HOSPITAL, ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 27, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day for the last twenty-four hours, I have the honor to report the sanitary condition of the hospital is its usual condition. I find the Second and Third Divisions very much in need of bunks and bedding, also covering for the sick; the bread is of bad quality, and the cooking arrangements are badly managed. We are short of a number of medicines which are very much needed. I would most respectfully urge that the deficiences mentioned be supplied on as early a day as may be practicable. Respectfully,

L. J. KILPATRICK,
Acting Assistant Surgeon,
Confederate States Military Prison Hospital.

To Dr. W. H. CREDELL, Surgeon in Charge, Second Division, Confederate States Military Prison Hospital, Andersonville, Ga.

CONFEDERATE STATES MIL. PRISON HOSPITAL,
ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 27, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day for the First Division Confederate States Military Prison Hospital, I have the honor to report the following as my endeavors to investigate particularly the condition of the inmates. I find that every exertion is used to keep the sick cleanly and well fed, and the attendants active in the administration of the prescribed medicines. Being led to doubt the ability of the Yankee physician of the Fourteenth Ward, I recommend that an examination be made as to his qualifications to prescribe, and if found deficient, he be removed from his position. Very respectfully, (Signed,) B. F. STANLEY, A. A. Surgeon.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL,
THIRD DIVISION, Aug. 28, 1864.

SIR: I have the honor to report as Medical Officer of the Day, Third Division: The tents are in good condition. The streets might be kept cleaner if there was an efficient police. Nurses might be more attentive. In the Commissariat Department we need more vegetables and salt. There is some filth accumulating about the cook house. I think another boiler is required. The Dead House is in as good conditon as could be expected.

[Signed,] J. S. D. PERRYMAN,
A. A. Surgeon, Third Division.

To Dr. EILAND, Medical Inspector.

Dr. Hunter:

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to report six medical officers present, also four absent—Drs. HEINDSMAN, WILLIAMS, HOWELL and RICE.

(Signed,) A. J. SANDERS, Act.-Asst.-Surgeon.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, Aug. 28, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day for First Division, I would report that the condition of the division is as good as can be expected under the circumstances. Yours, &c.

PRISON HOSPITAL,
ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Aug. 28, 1864.

SIR: I have the honor to report, as Medical Officer of the Second Division, that after faithfully performing the duties assigned me, that I have nothing new to report, but would respectfully call your attention to former reports, as they cover everything worthy of your notice. Your obedient servant,

(Signed,) A. THORNBURGH,

Surgeon EILAND, Medical Inspector of the Day.

ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., August, 28, 1864.

Dr. Herndon:

DEAR SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day, I have the honor to report, that I visited the stockade and am unable to speak favorably of the condition of the prison.

The crowded condition, the lack of an abundance of good water, the accumulation of human excrements, the prisoners food not being cooked, don't speak well of the health of the prison.

I would respectfully suggest that two or three more prisoners, be added to the cooking establishment, whose business it should be to swim all the husks and trash and faulty peas out of the sound ones before they are cooked, as it is an established fact, that faulty or decayed peas will produce disease among swine. Very respectfully,

A. P. SAUNDERS, Acting Assistant Surgeon.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL,
THIRD DIVISION, Aug. 29, 1864.

SIR: I have the honor to report, as Medical Officer of the Day, Third Division, that the tents are in good condition, and the streets also. The police force consists of convalescents.

The Commissary Department does as well as can be expected. The cook-house is very well conducted. The dead are promptly removed, and the house kept in good order.

(Signed.) J. J. BUTTS, A. A. Surg., Third Div.

To Dr. CREDELL, Medical Inspector.

FIRST DIVISION, C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL,
Aug. 30, 1864.

SIR: As Officer of the Day for the past twenty-four hours, I would respectfully report the First Division in as good condition as the means at our command will allow. Officers and attendants are punctual in the discharge of their duty. Very respectfully,

Asst. Surgeon and Officer of Day.

Surgeon E. D. EILAND, in charge of First Division C. S. M. P. Hospital.

THIRD DIVISION, C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL,
Aug. 30, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day, I have the honor to report that I find the tents and streets in tolerably good condition. The police is very well performed, considering that it is done by convalescents. I think it preferable to have a regular detailed force for the division.

The commissary department is doing very well. The dead-house is kept in good condition.

A. Surgeon, Third Division.

To Dr. MCGILL, Med. Inspector of the Day.

OFFICE SURGEONS IN CHARGE FIRST AND SECOND DIVISION,
MILITARY PRISON, Aug. 31, 1864.

J. H. White, Chief Surgeon:

SIR: I respectfully submit the following consolidated report of the Officers of the Day in hospital. The First Division is reported very much in want of tents; sheets very dirty and a great many of the men lying on the ground. The officers of the Second Division report a want of bedsacks; and a half dozen of empty barrels. There is no report of the Officers of the Day of the Third Division, the officers, from some cause, being absent. We are entirely out of some indispensables—medicines, chloroform, nitre, acid and opium.

I have the honor to be your obedient servant.

(Signed) E. D. EILAND.

CAMP SUMTER, Ga., Aug. 31, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer for the last twenty-four hours of first division of the military hospital, permit me to submit the following report:

The tents are in very bad condition, the streets not sufficiently cleansed, and the men sadly in want of bunks and good straw beds. There is also a great demand for a better supply of proper medicine, and I would respectfully request a larger amount of diet.

REPORT AS MEDICAL OFFICER OF THE DAY, DIVISION, NO. 1.

Assistant Surgeon W. H. Credell:

I submit the following report from Division No. 1. On inspection I find it generally in a bad condition.

I recommend bunks and more street boxes; chambers; also a quantity of straw for the patients; wheat or fine straw will answer. The supply of medicine entirely exhausted; rations poorly prepared. I therefore recommend that each division have cooking utensils, and do their cooking in the division.

(Signed) R. E. ALEXANDER,
Aug. 22, 1864. Assistant Surgeon.

C. S. M. HOSPITAL, THIRD DIVISION,
Sept. 1, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the day, I have the honor to report the Third Division in good condition throughout, with the exception, that the street, between the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Wards, is entirely too narrow. The dead house is in good order.

(Signed,) J. S. D. PERRYMAN,
A. A. Surgeon Third Division.

Asst. Surg. CREDELL, Medical Inspector.

E. D. E. Eiland, Surgeon in charge First Division:

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following reports as Medical Officer of the Day. Nothing of interest to report that has not been covered by previous reports. Hospital in bad condition generally.

E. D. Eiland, Surgeon First Division:

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day for the First Division C. S. M. P. Hospital, I have the honor to report that I find everything in as good condition as could be expected. As an exception, I would recommend, however, that more lime is needed in the different wards for the health of the inmates. I recommend also that one or two tents be erected, to receive the wounded and gangrene cases that are received from the stockade, in each ward, that they can be treated by the ward Surgeons, till vacancies are made in the surgical and gangrene wards.

Very respectfully,

(Signed,) B. F. STANLEY,
Act. Asst. Surgeon.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL,
ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Sept. 2, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day for the last 24 hours, I have the honor to report the sanitary condition of the Prison Hospital in its usual condition. I regret to have to inform you that we are short of appliances of every variety, hence we find it impossible to render that aid to the inmates that their condition requires.

Respectfully,

(Signed,) L. J. KILPATRICK,
Acting Asst. Surgeon.

To Dr. W. H. CREDELL, in charge Second Division C. S. M. P. Hospital, Andersonville, Ga.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, ANDERSONVILLE, Ga.,
Sept. 3, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer of the Day for the Second Division for the last twenty-four hours, I have the honor to submit the following report, viz.: That I find the condition of the division much the same as at last report, and would respectfully refer you to previous reports, and request that the suggestions therein contained be adopted as speedily as possible. I find, in addition, that the rations issued to the sick are entirely too small. Many of the patients are suffering as much from hunger as from their disease. I am of opinion that the diet is very injurious to many of the sick, the bread producing diarrhœa in its most aggravated form. The soup is not nourishing enough. The cooks put in too much water for the material.

(Signed,) A. THORNBURGH,
Assistant Surgeon.

C. S. M. P. HOSPITAL, CAMP SUMTER, Sept. 4, 1864.

SIR: As Medical Officer for the Day for First Division C. S. M. P. Hospital, I have the honor to report that I find the different wards in as good condition as could be expected under the circumstances, as are out of medicine. I would suggest that the quantity and quality of food for the sick be better.

(Signed.) A. P. SHEPPARD,
A. A. Surgeon, 1st Div. C. S. M. P. Hospital.
Dr. E. D. Eiland, Surgeon in Charge, 1st Div.

First Division C. S. M. Hospital,
Sept. 5, 1864.

Sir: As Officer of the Day for the last twenty-four hours, I have inspected the hospital and found it in as good condition as the nature of circumstances will allow. A majority of the bunks are still unfurnished with bedding, while in a portion of the division the tents are entirely destitute of either bunks, bedding or straw, the patients being compelled to lay upon the bare ground.

I would earnestly call your attention to the article of diet. The corn bread received from the bakery being made up without sifting is wholly unfit for the use of the sick, and often (as in the last twenty-four hours,) upon examination the inner portion is found to be perfectly raw. The meat (beef) received by the patients, does not amount to over two ounces per day, and for the past three or four days no flour has been issued to the sick. The corn bread cannot be eaten by many, for to do so would be to increase the disease of the bowels, from which a large majority are suffering, and it is therefore thrown away.

All, then, that is received by way of sustenance, is two ounces of boiled beef, and one-half pint of rice soup per day. Under these circumstances, all the skill that can be brought to bear on the case by the medical officer will avail nothing.

Another point to which I feel it my duty to call your attention, is the deficiency of medicine. We have but little more than indigenous barks and roots with which to treat the numerous forms of disease, to which an attention is duly called.

For the treatment of wounds, ulcers, &c., we have absolutely nothing except water. Our wards, some of them, are filled with gangrene, and we are compelled to fold our arms and look quietly upon its ravages—not even having stimulants to support the system under its depressing influence. This article being so limited in supply that it can only be issued to cases under the knife, I would respectfully call your earnest attention to the above facts, in the hope that something may be done to alleviate the suffering of the sick.

(Signed) J. C. PELOT,
Asst.-Surgeon P. A. C. S.
To E. D. Eiland, Surgeon in charge First Division.

C. S. M. P. Hospital,
Andersonville, Ga., Sept. 5, 1864.

Sir: As Medical Officer of the Day for the last 24 hours, I have the honor to report the sanitary condition of the division in its usual state.

I would respectfully suggest that the rations of the attendants and convalescents be increased, particularly the convalescents, as the rations issued to them are not sufficient in quantity to enable them to regain their strength. I would also suggest that the rations of corn bread be changed to flour. The supply of medicines being exhausted, and therefore being much embarrassed in the discharge of our duties as medical officers. Respectfully,

(Signed) L. J. KILPATRICK, A. A. Surgeon.
Dr. W. H. Credell, in charge Second Division, C. S. M. P. Hospital.

C. S. M. P. Hospital, Sept. 5, 1864.

Assistant Surgeon McGill, in charge of Second Division:

Sir: I have the honor to report to you, as officer of the day, that I find the division in a very bad condition. The patients are without suitable diet and destitute of medicines. I have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient servant.

(Signed,) JOSEPH H. JOHNSON,
Asst. Surg. Pa. C. S., and Med. Officer for Day, Second Division.

Andersonville, Ga., Sept. 7, 1864.

Sir: As Medical Officer of First Division for the past 24 hours, I have the honor to submit the following report:

The tents are very poor, the streets not kept clean, the men lying on the ground, no bunks, no straw and no beds, poor supply of medicine, and entirely too short rations of beef-tea.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) W. J. REEVES,
Acting Assistant Surgeon.
Surgeon Eiland, Medical Inspector.

C. S. Military Prison,
Andersonville, Ga., Sept. 7, 1864.

Sir: Having been Medical Officer of the Day for the Second Division, for 24 hours past, and having performed my duties according to instructions, I find the division in a bad condition; our tents are too much crowded for this hot weather, and many of them are not fit for use, being rotten and full of holes. The patients are suffering with diarrhœa, partly produced by the diet, and many of them are still on the ground, without blankets, or anything to protect them from dampness, flies or mosquitoes. I would also suggest that the police keep the streets in better order, and that the nurses be required to keep the tents more cleanly. There are many other things that might be noticed, but until these important points are attended to, I deem it entirely unnecessary to say anything more at present. Respectfully, your obedient servant,

(Signed) A. THORNBURGH,
Assistant Surgeon.

II.

Let me now give some extracts from the diaries alluded to in my previous letter:

EXTRACTS FROM THE DIARY OF A. A. VANDERVOORT, COMPANY B, FOURTEENTH REGIMENT WEST VIRGINIA VOLUNTEERS, WHO DIED IN THE PRISON HOSPITAL AT SAVANNAH, NOV. 5, 1864.

Camp Sumter, Friday, June 3, 1864.—This day has been mostly clear and warm. Rain in the evening. We reached this camp to-day, and found a goodly number of our men in prison. The camp is not considered healthy; many have died since they came here. The country we passed through to-day is generally a wilderness; wheat and rye scarce.

Saturday, June 4.—This day has been rainy, and unpleasant for those who have no shelters; we find ourselves in a place, considering the fœtid air, not well calculated to promote good health. But we trust an all-wise Providence will guide us, preserve our health, and bring us safely to a more healthy place. A few prisoners came in from Sherman's army.

Sunday, June 5.—Nothing out of the general order of things took place to-day. It has seemed more like the Sundays of other days.

Tuesday, June 7.—A lot of prisoners came in—old prisoners from Richmond; reported that Averill had burnt the railroad bridge at Danville, Grant said to have possession of the outer works around Richmond.

Wednesday, June 8.—Another squad of prisoners from the Potomac. They report nothing of late occurrence. The chief talk is about an exchange.

Thursday, June 9.—It is rumored in camp that our forces have taken Atlanta.

Sunday, June 12.—A lot of prisoners from Sherman's army came in to-day. It is said our officers at Macon are being paroled.

Monday, June 13.—It was rumored this morning that the parole officer was here, but it turned out a hoax, like all the tales we hear.

Tuesday, June 14.—We have news that Lincoln and Hamlin are nominated President and Vice-President.

Thursday, June 16.—It was said Abe. Lincoln stated in a speech at the Baltimore Convention that measures would be taken for a speedy exchange of prisoners; such an event would be hailed with delight.

Friday, June 17.—It is said by private sources that transports were ready at Northern ports, to carry us away from this place; hope it may be so.

Saturday, June 18.—A lot of prisoners were brought in to-day, among them were some of our company, who were wounded. It is said that a letter was received from Secretary Stanton stating that a change would be effected this month.

Sunday, June 19.—The place is getting terribly crowded; a great many die every day, and yet nothing seems to be doing for our welfare.

Monday, June 20.—Still in the same monotonous condition, and very much desire to be released from this miserable place, and hope that our Government is doing something to rescue us; we are ignorant of all that is taking place.

Tuesday, June 21.—A squad of prisoners came in from the Southwest army. It is said our cavalry are advancing this way; also that Fort Darling is taken.

Thursday, June 23.—A lot of prisoners from the Potomac Army came in this day.

Friday, June 24.—A few prisoners from Sherman's army. The enlargement of the stockade goes slowly on. There are still reports and high hopes of an exchange.

Saturday, June 25.—It is said a train load of hard bread has been sent here, and that they will soon begin to parole and send off men.

Sunday, June 26.—Some cases of sunstroke have occurred.

Monday, June 27.—A few prisoners from Grant's army came in to-day. We daily see evidences of rebel cruelty—some one is shot at nearly every day for the slightest provocation.

Tuesday, June 28.—A lot of prisoners from Grant's army came in.

Wednesday, June 29.—A lot of prisoners came in from various commands. A lot of plunderers and murderers were taken up and searched, and turned loose; they were pelted with clubs.

Thursday, June 30.—The work of routing up raiders went on this morning; a jury was selected to try them. It is said half the prisoners will move to the new prison to-morrow.

Saturday, July 2.—It was said that a paroled Captain from Macon, of the Seventy-second Ohio Regiment was in camp, and confirmed the report.

Sunday, July 3.—Roll-call as usual this morning, and continued all day. It is said many were absent, and this was made a pretext to withhold our rations, but I suppose the real case was they had nothing to issue.

Monday, July 4.—No demonstration is here to indicate that this is the glorious Fourth. The scenes of other days come upon us as we wander through this horrible inclosure and witness the misery and woe that is visible here.

Wednesday, July 6.—A lot of prisoners from the Potomac army came in. It is reported Richmond is fallen.

Thursday, July 7.—It was reported that to-day several thousand would leave here on parole, but no one left, and the believers are disappointed.

Friday, July 8.—Some prisoners from the Potomac army and some from Charleston. It is said our forces were repulsed at Charleston.

Saturday, July 9.—It is melancholy to see how prisoners sicken and die, but no wonder!

Monday, July 11—A large lot of prisoners came in. Six men were hung outside the stockade. They were a part of the raiding party, recently arrested for plunder and murder.

Tuesday, July 12—Another lot of prisoners from Grant's army. A great deal of talk about parole, but I suppose it is all gasconade.

Wednesday, July 13.—All the prisoners manifest a good deal of interest in parole and exchange; some are even getting desperate. It would be the greatest achievement of the war to release the prisoners here.

Thursday, July 14.—The sergeants of squads were called out, and some strict rules read to them for the government of camp. A few cannon shots were fired to celebrate Sherman's defeat! It is said Lee is going to Maryland.

Friday, July 15.—A few prisoners from Sherman's army came in; they report that Sherman is near Atlanta.

Saturday, July 16.—The work of getting up petitions to the President and the Governors of the States for our release is still going on. I hope, if it passes through, it will be successful.

Sunday, July 17.—In the afternoon a meeting was held to make arrangements to petition the President and Governors for our release.

Monday, July 18.—A meeting was held in the evening to forward the petition before mentioned. Attended prayer meeting in the evening; a great deal of interest seems to be manifested in these meetings.

Tuesday, July 19.—Commenced throwing up fortifications; suppose we are fearful of an attack. It is said reinforcements have reached this place. Citizens still continue to come here, as though this was the centre of safety. No news of the movements of our army.

Wednesday, July 20.—A few prisoners came in from Sherman's army. Atlanta was not ours when they were taken.

Thursday, July 21.—A lot of prisoners from the Potomac Army came in. They report that railroad communication has opened to Richmond. The work of fortifying this place goes bravely on.

Saturday, July 23.—It is reported that an agreement has been made for parole and exchange, and will commence in August.

Sunday, July 24.—It is said that Sherman and Hood have been fighting for two days, and that the rebel army has met with defeat.

Monday, July 25.—We now receive rice and meat as rations. No salt. It is said they are hard up for rations. Hoped they will be forced to parole. The trench digging still goes on. They seem resolved to hold the place at all hazards.

Tuesday, July 26.—A large lot of prisoners from Sherman's command. Atlanta not ours when they were taken. A cannon shot was fired over the camp to terrify us from an outbreak.

Friday, July 29.—Our bounds are getting crowded by daily arrivals, but our number is growing less by the scores that die daily. When will this melancholy scene disappear?

Saturday, July 30.—It is said that our cavalry have made a demonstration at Macon and were shelling the city. No news from Atlanta.

Sunday, July 31.—It is said that our men have burned Macon, and have moved this way. The camp is alive with parole and exchange news.

Monday, Aug. 1.—A paper was read this evening, complaining about exchange.

Tuesday, Aug. 2.—A lot of prisoners came in from Stoneman's forces, taken near Macon.

Wednesday, Aug. 3.—A lot of prisoners came in from Stoneman's army. A great many sick were taken out this day; they are soon to be sent to our lines. I hope this is so.

Thursday, Aug. 4.—A few prisoners came in and reported that they had met with two train loads of prisoners with flags of truce.

Friday, Aug. 5.—A few prisoners came in; some say the sick are being sent away to our lines, others say the sick have not been sent away.

Saturday, Aug. 6.—A prisoner was killed to-day, but that is a daily occurrence. The guards act more like fiends than human beings.

Sunday, Aug. 7.—A few prisoners came in. It is said the committee previously started to our lines with a petition to our Government.

Monday, Aug. 8.—A few prisoners came in from Sherman's army, and report that Atlanta is taken, and that the rebel wagon trains were all captured.

Thursday, Aug. 11.—A lot of prisoners from Sherman's army came. The breastwork mentioned turns out to be a kind of stockade.

Friday, Aug. 12.—It is said Sherman is fighting, but with what success is not known.

Saturday, Aug. 13.—The mortality is said to be greater than at any other period since prisoners have been kept here.

Wednesday, Aug. 17.—It is now said that an agreement is made, and the work will commence soon. It is hard to believe anything.

Friday, Aug. 19.—It is not unusual for scores to be carried to their final resting-place. When will the authorities consider our deplorable condition and release us?

Tuesday, Aug. 23.—A few prisoners from Sherman's army. It is said Sherman is reinforced by a portion of Grant's army. It is also said that Kilpatrick is making a raid around Macon.

Wednesday, Aug. 24.—A great many rumors about a general exchange, but nothing reliable.

Monday, Aug. 29.—Very sickly in camp. A great many die daily. Oh, how desirable it would be if our Government would speedily rescue us from this horrible place.

Wednesday, Aug. 31.—It is said 150 die here daily. What awful mortality! I see no prospect of a change, though it is said our Government has accepted terms of exchange.

Friday, Sept. 2.—I become badly crippled with rheumatism and scurvy—not able to walk.

Monday, Sept. 5.—A lot of prisoners from Sherman's army came in. It is said Grant has badly whipped Lee. Transports are said to be reaching Charleston, loaded with prisoners for exchange.

Wednesday, Sept. 7.—Several thousand prisoners were taken out to-day, and sent on the train toward Macon; it is said and generally accredited they are going to Charleston for general exchange.

Monday, Sept. 12.—The sick are being removed to the hospital and the barracks.

Tuesday, Sept. 13.—We lay in camp all day, and in the evening moved out to the cars (three miles from Andersonville.) We drew our rations and moved out. After going about three miles the cars ran off the track, smashed up some and killed several prisoners and guards.

Saturday, Sept. 17.—Seven hundred went out this evening to go to Sherman's army. We are still lying at the south gate, ready to go out.

Monday, Sept. 19.—It is said we will go out to-night or to-morrow. A great many are sick in camp and a great many are dying. Hope this woeful scene will soon be ended.

Friday, Sept. 23.—The sick are still dying. Some are being removed to hospital. It looks like if the removal of prisoners had entirely stopped.

Sunday, Sept. 25.—The mortality, considering the number here, is greater than at any period, and yet there is but little hope of any change. Our Government have no regard for our woeful, desperate condition.

Wednesday, Sept. 28.—In the evening, we got orders to leave. We got on the cars a little after dark, and moved off toward Macon, reaching that place about 2 o'clock. At 4, we moved on. I found it a hard ride, as I was quite unwell.

At Savannah, Ga., Thursday, Sept. 29.—We reached this place about dark. The sick were hauled to the stockades, after being kindly furnished with bread and butter and crackers by a kind lady.

Sunday, Oct. 2.—The church bells sound all over the city, reminding us of other days. Would that those glorious days would again return.

Tuesday, Oct. 4.—It is said that the chief doctor told that an exchange of the sick and wounded would soon take place. We can only wait and hope.

Monday, Oct. 10.—This morning's paper speaks about an exchange of sick and wounded. It is said that transports were to leave Fortress Monroe with 10,000 rebels for exchange. We shall anxiously look for the transports.

Thursday, Oct. 13.—The sick were all ordered out to-day, but the doctor countermanded the order, as they were too sick to be moved.

Monday, Oct. 17.—A Roman priest makes frequent visits in here, and presents clothes, blankets, &c., to the destitute, and does many other things connected with his mission. Others might do likewise.

Tuesday, Oct. 18.—Sent my watch out this morning by a darkey to trade for ten dozen of eggs, which are now selling in camp for $4; wheat flour is worth 75 cents per pint; butter, $12 per pound; common cow peas, 45 cents per pint; molasses, (sorghum,) $10 per gallon; salt, 8 shillings per pint; potatoes, $3 per dozen; green tea, 50 cents per table-spoonful; black pepper, 25 cents per table-spoonful—the prices mentioned is the amount we have to pay for the articles in United States money—below are the prices in Confederate money: Eggs, $16; flour, $8; butter, $48 per pound; cow peas, $2 50; molasses, $40.

Wednesday, Oct. 19.—The doctor in command is very attentive, prescribing and issuing to the sick; he is also changing the rations to some extent; to-day we got sweet potatoes, turnips, cabbages, pumpkins, &c.

Friday, Oct. 21.—We received wheat bread for the first time, in connection with the usual amount of vegetables. Though under treatment, my scurvied limbs are getting rather worse.

Tuesday, Oct. 25.—Our vegetables were cut off to-day.

Thursday, Oct. 27.—It is said several thousand sick and wounded rebs have reached the point of exchange.

Sunday, Oct. 30.—My health little or no better.

Monday, Oct. 31.—The French Roman priest called on us, and talked with us of our spiritual and temporal welfare. He seems to take a deep interest in the welfare of all around him.

[This is the last of the diary of this poor soldier. He was removed to Savannah, where he died in the prison hospital Nov. 5.]

EXTRACTS FROM THE DIARY OF SERGT.-MAJOR ALFRED W. LETTEER, SEVENTY-SEVENTH PENNSYLVANIA VOLUNTEERS, WHO DIED IN HOSPITAL AT SAVANNAH.

Wednesday, July 4.—To-day has opened with a pleasant smiling morning as I would wish to see usher in this glorious day if I were at liberty. Everything quiet in the camp. Evening—One of the most terrific thunder storms I ever witnessed visited this part of the country this afternoon. Drew rations this evening at 7 o'clock.

Tuesday, July 5.—A current report in camp to-day represents that the paroling commences the 7th of this month. The report finds many disciples, but your humble servant does not class himself among them. Drew rations of fresh beef and meal to-night.

Thursday, July 7.—Some men were sent in this morning that were taken out suspected of being "raiders." No charges were preferred, and no evidence called on, so they were sent back to camp. "Mat. Crane," one of them, has been heard by one of the detectives to say that he will "drive a knife in my heart" before he leaves the camp. I am on my guard for him and his party of desperadoes, and with my friends will give them a hearty welcome the moment they wish to make an attack.

Thursday, July 14.—A great alarm in the rebel camp this evening, their men all ordered out under arms, orderlies riding about at a breakneck speed, artillery being ranged on the camp, and, in fact, the Johnnies are nearly frightened out of their wits. I imagine it is done more to show the prisoners their force, and intimidate them against making any demonstration toward an escape; or they fear a raid being made here by some cavalry.

III.

I am enabled to send you the following list of deaths of prisoners at Andersonville for a period of nearly two months, extending from June 7 to July, 1864. It is complete for the days mentioned, and undoubtedly correct. The list was made at Andersonville, and is the only existing documentary evidence of the death of these prisoners possessed by the Government.
H. J. W.

ELEGANT VELVET BONNETS FOR 20 DOLLARS.
ELEGANT VELVET BONNETS FOR 25 DOLLARS.

BIGGINS' ORIGIN OF THE BONNET.

As Love through Olympus was tripping one day,
He stole to where Ceres unconsciously lay,
And robbing her sheaf of its choicest gems,
He tastefully plaited their golden stems;
Then borrowing from Flora the prettiest flowers,
Just such as she bears in her sunniest hours;
He wove them with skill through the glittering corn,
Having previously bathed them in dews of the morn;
Over all them he cast a light gossamer cloud,
Their beauties to heighten and not to enshroud;
"And now to complete it," he joyously sings,
"A piece from the Rainbow I'll have for the strings,"
'Twas done. He flew quickly to Venus' bed,
And placed his bright work on her beautiful head.
So lovely she looked, all the gods stood amazed;
Some smiled, some envied, but all of them praised.
Then Jove, summoning Mercury swift to his side,
"Come, name me this head-dress," he playfully cried,
Puzzled Mercury paused, then placed his hands on it,
Saying: "By Jupiter's mandate, I call thee a Bonnet.
Thus was it that Olympus first witnessed the birth
Of the loveliest gift e'er bestowed upon earth.
Bonnets since then have become quite a passion.
Been remodeled and changed by capricious Fashion;
Through all their varieties one leads the way,
'Tis Higgins of this city for style and display;
A splendid assortment is always on view
At his Mammoth Establishment, Sixth-avenue,
On the number 'tis well your attention to fix,
Bear well then in mind, it is One-Twenty-Six.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Savannah papers of the 23d contain dispatches from Augusta, to the effect that Milledgeville and Gordon were captured by Gen. SHERMAN on the 21st. The State-house, Governor's mansion and the penitentiary were committed to the flames. The Augusta Constitutional, of the 21st, reports that the Oconee bridge, five miles above Gordon, was burned at noon of that day, by a small party of our cavalry, who retired after performing their work. This is, no doubt, the "repulse" of our cavalry, reported by the Richmond press with so much satisfaction.

The Captain of the Herman Livingston, from Savannah on the 25th, reports that when he sailed the exchange of prisoners had ceased, as SHERMAN had cut off the railroad leading from Savannah, and had, it was thought, reached all the balance of our men, as he was only about six hours' march from the stockades when the Herman Livingston left them, though an effort was being made by the rebels to send our men to Florida.

So great is the panic occasioned by SHERMAN'S march that the Governor of South Carolina has ordered the reserve militia of that State to assemble at Harrisburgh. Gov. BROWN, of Georgia, has also issued a proclamation making a levy en masse of all citizens between the ages of 16 and 55, to serve for forty days.

We give, this morning, a list of three thousand of the Union prisoners who have died under the privations and cruelties of the prison at Andersonville. The diaries of two of the victims of rebel barbarity will be read with profound interest.

A dispatch from Louisville, dated yesterday, says rumors prevailed there that HOOD'S army, about 30,000 strong, one-third cavalry, and ten batteries of artillery, including reinforcements from FORREST and DICK TAYLOR, was marching on Pulaski on Wednesday. It was thought HOOD would either fight at Columbia, or leaving Columbia, march into East Tennessee and join his forces to those of BRECKINRIDGE.

GENERAL NEWS.

There was a further rise in Government Stocks on Saturday, with an active speculative as well as investment demand. The Gold Room was also higher, closing 225@226 ℔ cent. Railways dull. Money easy.

THE EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS.—We publish, to-day, two partially conflicting accounts respecting the exchange of prisoners at Savannah. In the Richmond Dispatch of Friday, it is stated that the exchange goes on well; that thirty-two hundred Confederates have been delivered by our agent, and that Capt. HATCH (the rebel agent) is engaged in making an equal return of our prisoners at the South. The news which we get by way of Annapolis and Baltimore is doubtless later, and presents a more correct view of the situation. By vessels which arrived yesterday at Annapolis with twelve hundred and forty six of our men, comes the report that with the reception of this batch of prisoners in Savannah River on the 25th, the announcement was made by the rebel agent that the exchange had ceased. The reason assigned for this was that SHERMAN had cut off the railroads leading from Savannah, and had, as it was thought, reached the place where the remainder of our prisoners in the State are confined. SHERMAN, by this report, is made to appear as having been within six hours' march of the Stockade at Millen, at the latest report on Friday last. To this is appended the conjectural statement that the rebels would make an effort to remove our prisoners to Florida before SHERMAN should reach them. Millen, where the bulk of our prisoners are kept, is directly in SHERMAN'S road toward Savannah, after leaving Milledgeville. And if he was within six hours' march of the place on Friday last, he has made, ere now, two-thirds of his journey from Atlanta to the coast, supposing Savannah to be his main objective point.

Such a march as this, we take it, can only apply to his cavalry advance. It is possible enough, however, that, as the rebel exchange agents admit, he may have got such hold on the railroad lines and the rolling stock belonging to them around Millen, as to make further transportation between that place and Savannah impossible.

The Southwestern Campaign—The Armies of Hood and Sherman.

We have never during the course of the war had anything analogous to the military situation as it is at present in the Southwest. The two great armies which so long confronted one another, and which fought each other from Nashville to Atlanta, have parted company, and each has started off in a direction opposite to the other—one striking southward through Georgia for the Atlantic coast, and the other striking northward of the great central mountain range for Middle Tennessee. One of the Richmond papers remarked the other day how strangely ignorant both sides were concerning the movements of these great forces. The rebels have known but little about the operations of HOOD'S army, and now that SHERMAN has cut their telegraph lines in Georgia, they will know little more about HOOD than we know about SHERMAN; and it is likely that, what information they do obtain will be got through Union mediums, just as our information about SHERMAN is got through rebel mediums.

The telegraphic news which we have been giving for the last three days would seem to make it certain that HOOD'S army, which has been shivering on the banks of the Tennessee River for some weeks past, has at last struck up into Middle Tennessee. There are two railroads running south from Nashville, and on the westernmost of these lines, or that which joins the Memphis and Charleston Road at Decatur, HOOD has planted his army, and has advanced north nearly to Columbia, or within fifty miles of Nashville. Our army under Gen. THOMAS, which SHERMAN left in Tennessee to hold HOOD in check, has fallen back some distance before the rebels, and at last advices a battle was imminent at Columbia, or somewhere between there and Nashville. THOMAS' strategy in falling back is doubtless similar in nature to that which SHERIDAN practiced on two or three occasions in the Shenandoah Valley; but THOMAS will doubtless see to it that no part of the rebel infantry or cavalry effect a lodgment upon any part of the road running direct between Nashville and Chattanooga.

From SHERMAN'S army in Georgia the morning's advices are later, but the rebels take care that they shall be scanty. We give extracts from Richmond papers of as late a date as Friday last. The Dispatch says that on the previous day (Thursday) SHERMAN "was still west of the Oconee River, one of the tributaries of the Alatamaha, which runs Northwest through the centre of the State of Georgia, and on the west bank of which stream Milledgeville is situated." From Augusta our telegrams are only to Tuesday last, and these set forth that Milledgeville, the capital of the State, was captured by SHERMAN this day week. The capture of Macon is still dubious, and it is evident that on many points the rebels, as well at Savannah and Augusta as at Richmond, are very ill-informed.

In the meantime, the rebels are still doing what they can to resist SHERMAN'S advance. HOOD and his army are too far away to furnish relief in season, unless the militia of Georgia and adjacent States, and the seaboard garrisons, are able to interrupt him longer than is likely. But Gov. BROWN has made a levy en masse of all persons between the ages of 16 and 55, to serve for forty days; and the Governor of South Carolina has also ordered out the reserve militia of that State. Gen. SHERMAN, before starting out, doubtless made his calculations for meeting and for scattering this kind of cattle.

The rebel organs at Richmond, if they do not give us much reliable news, are beginning to furnish us that style of reading which we anticipated at the beginning of the campaign. The Examiner of Thursday announces with a calm and magnificent satisfaction, which is quite appalling to us, that "several dispatches concur in the declaration that SHERMAN'S army is ruined," to which it appends the remark: "This is all the news from Georgia which we are disposed to publish this morning." We really should think it would be. And pray is it not enough to satisfy even the stomach of a rebel? It is mortifying, however, to find that the Examiner is quickly compelled to modify in a very odd way its grand announcement. It subsequently comes down and coolly tells us: "Persons who have an opportunity of ascertaining the situation of affairs in Georgia, are quite hopeful that Gen. SHERMAN will be brought to grief ere he reaches the coast." O tempora! O mores! The Whig of Friday does not seem to see that SHERMAN'S army is "ruined," but it does think that it will exhaust SHERMAN'S skill to make good the retreat of the remnant of his defeated army." The Sentinel, after calling furiously on the Georgia rebels to harass SHERMAN by attacks and alarms, by night and day, to block his road, destroy his supply trains, and cut him up in detail, adds that there will soon be a "grand hunt" in Georgia, of which SHERMAN'S army will be victims, and advises everybody to join in.

We thought the rebels were too old to fancy they would do anything but entertain us by such talk as this. They might as well stick to the truth, for such nonsensical falsehoods do not at all disturb us.

THE BRITISH PEACEMAKERS AND THEIR ADDRESS.—The celebrated address sent some time since to Gov. SEYMOUR by a number of Southern sympathizers in Great Britain, and which the Governor declined to receive officially, has at last turned up at Washington. It will be seen that Mr. SEWARD was requested to become the medium of laying it before the President, but declined doing so, on the common sense ground that Her Britannic Majesty's subjects have an official and recognized organ in Washington, through whom the Government of the United States transacts business on British account.

These rejected petitioners propose appealing from Mr. SEWARD to Congress. A more practical arrangement for them—if they really desire peace between the North and the South, and permanent peace between Great Britain and the United States—would be to petition their own Government against turning loose their Floridas and Sea Kings upon the commerce of the United States. SHERMAN and GRANT will do the rest of the business, establishing a most durable and satisfactory peace—such a peace as will do credit to the civilization of our time, and immeasurably advance the cause of human freedom.

The Rebel Incendiary Plot—Measures of Precaution.

The seasonable orders issued by Gen. DIX on Saturday, did much to allay public excitement in regard to the possible scope of the plot from which the city had so narrow an escape. It was felt on all hands that, however prompt and effective the joint action of the authorities of the Police and Fire Departments proved to be, when the first alarm was given, it was an act of wisdom to let it be known that the criminals would be summarily tried before a military tribunal, treated as rebel spies if found guilty, and thereupon hanged with dispatch. Equally reassuring to the public is Gen. DIX'S supplementary order, requiring that persons arriving here from the insurgent States, shall promptly register their names at Gen. PECK'S headquarters, in order to avoid being regarded as spies and treated accordingly. A wholesome application of military law will do an uncommon amount of good at this particular juncture. The city is literally swarming with rebel adventurers, of an irresponsible and dangerous class. And their case can only be promptly reached by the strong authority of which Gen. DIX is the immediate representative.

The simultaneous action of the incendiaries, especially at the hotels, has suggested to not a few of those well acquainted with the workings of criminal life in the city, that some of the servants in these public establishments might with great advantage be cross-questioned. It is held by men experienced in the detection of crime, that without the connivance of persons employed in the hotels, it would have been almost impossible to organize an incendiary scheme such as that of Friday night. And it is especially suggested that an inquest should be made for the purpose of discovering whether a number of the class we refer to are not members of secret political organizations. That such organizations exist here and in every large town in the loyal States there can be no manner of doubt; and that it is to one or other of them that we owe this carefully-matured plot to burn, pillage and murder indiscriminately throughout the city, is equally beyond dispute. We know, moreover, that some of these cut-throat societies exist under names which have heretofore excited no suspicion; and if we are to reach the bottom of this conspiracy, we shall have to keep a sharp eye on sundry associations which have thus far been considered harmless. The effectual measures taken by the authorities will cause a temporary suspension of incendiary operations, no doubt, but it becomes us to see to it that we are not put off our guard by relapsing into a somnolent indifference. It is when we have got to fancy ourselves perfectly secure, that the pestilence will break out with new and accumulated force.

In view of the prospective dangers which the Winter season has possibly in store for us, we trust that Gen. DIX'S orders will not remain a dead letter. If they are practically followed up, and if the subordinate officers of the department regard the demand upon their vigilance to be as pressing after this affair is wound up, and until the close of the rebellion, as these demands are to-day, then we shall have an assured peace in the city. If they relax their energies, we shall have a new crop of rebel emissaries among us ready for any adventure, however desperate.

The Loyal Martyrs in the Southern Prisons.

Before the rebel authorities were compelled, by reason of the fearful pestilence that raged within it, to break open the prison pen at Andersonville, the bodies of eleven thousand loyal soldiers had been thrown, uncoffined, into the shallow trenches surrounding the stockade. The names of three thousand of those who thus miserably perished under the inhuman treatment of their captors, we publish in other columns this morning. It is a saddening record, and yet, its publication will doubtless relieve many of the friends and relatives of our poor martyred soldiers from the horrors of despairing hope and suspense, in regard to the fate of those they love.

Our special correspondent also supplies, to-day, a further accumulation of testimony from the reports of rebel Surgeons, as to the barbarities practiced upon the prisoners, and against which these Surgeons, in many cases, felt called upon professionally to protest. Every line of the evidence thus supplied, like that which was published exclusively in Saturday's issue of the TIMES, bears out to the letter the report of the venerable Dr. VALENTINE MOTT and his associates. It is important—disagreeable as the task may be—to give due prominence to the testimony thus furnished. It is desirable that there should be no excuse for the outside world to ignore, or seek to discredit, the charges of barbarity thus brought home to the Richmond conspirators by their own agents. It is proper that the mask should be torn from the face of this spurious and bastard chivalry, which foreign sympathizers so loudly belaud; that mankind may see what depth of infamy and naked cruelty may be reached by a community which is founded upon human slavery.

The reports of the Confederate surgeons thoroughly agree. We find that our prisoners were deprived—with the most needless and heartless cruelty, of necessaries entirely within the means of the authorities to grant them. Nay, our poor fellows were forbidden to use what their own labor could have supplied them with, at no cost whatever to the rebel Government. We may sum up these available necessities thus:

1. The room allowed our prisoners within the Andersonville stockade might have been enlarged, so that the 25,000 or 30,000 prisoners could have been removed from unwholesome contact; so that the means of ablution and general attention to personal cleanliness might have been available; and so that the sick might have been separated from those in health.

2. Our prisoners might have had abundant shelter, at no cost to the rebel authorities. Pine woods abounded all around them, and shelter tents of moderate comfort our men would gladly have extemporized from these, by their own labor.

3. Water could have been supplied to our men at a small cost of labor which the healthy prisoners would themselves have readily borne.

4. Fuel was superabundant on every side of the inclosure. Yet, the Confederate surgeons testify that enough was not permitted to reach the stockade, even to do the sparse cooking of the hospital tents.

5. Our men might have been permitted to remove the excrement of the camp; but it appears to have been part of the punishment inflicted on them to prevent such removal—five acres being completely covered therewith.

We might add to this list of needless and deliberate cruelties—cruelties arising in no sense or degree out of the straits of the Confederacy either in the matter of labor or provisioning. But it is useless to enlarge the indictment.

Says Dr. PATTERSON, writing to his superior in the Confederate Medical Department, on the 11th of August: "I find great negligence in interring the dead, some of the bodies having lain as many as four days." With the thermometer at 100 in the shade, we know what this means. Four days later, Dr. THORNBURG reports to his superior from the same hospital: "The patients are compelled to lie on the ground, many of them without blankets and some of them without clothes." This officer pleads in the same report for a small supply of washing basins: "The ones we have been using (he urges) for dressing wounds and ulcers are not fit for other use." The surgeon prays, too, for some means of getting a water supply for the hospital.

Dr. MASSEE, making his hospital report on the 20th of August, states that "I find the beef in very bad condition, having been blown by flies so long that it was infested with live insects or creepers."

So late as the 7th of September, Dr. THORNBURG testifies regarding his patients that "many of them are still on the ground, without blankets or anything to protect them." Another surgeon complains that the peas furnished to his patients "would produce disease among swine;" and still another says: "The crowded condition, the lack of an abundance of good water, the accumulation of human excrement, the prisoners' food not being cooked, don't speak well of the health of the prison." "Many of my patients," again adds Dr. THORNBURG, "are suffering as much from hunger as from their disease."

Such is Southern chivalry at its first attempted outset upon a career of independence. Such are some of the credentials it offers to sustain its claims for admission into the family of civilized nations. Will foreign sympathizers look at the picture? It is drawn by no unfriendly hands.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Nov. 27.

THE CABINET.

As the Border States will have no representative in the Cabinet after the retirement of Attorney-General BATES. Mr. BLAIR being already out, it is believed that for this and other reasons Judge-Advocate General HOLT will be appointed Attorney-General.

Mr. LINCOLN, will not hear of Mr. STANTON'S quitting the War Department unless such retirement be made absolutely necessary by a permanent breaking down of Mr. STANTON'S health under the fatigues of his office. All speculations, therefore, assigning Gen. BUTLER to the place are absurd. There will be no vacancy, in the first place; and secondly, if there were, BUTLER would be strongly opposed by the dominant and representative interests of his own State. BANKS would meet the same fate.

THE CHIEF JUSTICESHIP.

Judge DAVIS, of Illinois, will, all but certainly, be Chief Justice, vice TANEY, and his vacancy on the bench will be filled by the transfer of Judge USHER from the Department of the Interior.

THE SITUATION.

Our military authorities appear in the highest spirits at the general situation.

OUR NORTHERN FRONTIER.

Monsieur CARTIER, of the Canadian Government, arrived this morning. It is supposed his visit has reference to the troublous aspect of affairs on our northern frontier.

GEN. BANKS.

Gen. BANKS will return immediately to New-Orleans.

TRADE IN REBEL STATES.

The forthcoming proclamation by the President, defining anew the rights of trade in the rebel States, has been prepared after a careful consultation with the Secretaries of War and the Treasury.

WASHINGTON FILLING UP.

Senators and Representatives in Congress are beginning to arrive, and the city is fast filling up with speculators, contractors, lobby agents and the usual attendants of a session of Congress. As is usual during the short session, hotel and boarding-house keepers have put up their prices exorbitantly. In fact, desirable lodgings for the Winter are difficult to be had at any price.

A PRESENT TO PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

Mr. KINMAN, of California, accompanied by CLINTON LLOYD, Esq., Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, arrayed in the complete costume of a frontiersman, this morning presented to the President a buckhorn chair, manufactured by himself, and which he had brought across the continent especially to present. Mr. LINCOLN received Mr. K. with great cordiality, and accepted the gift with appropriate remarks. The donor appeared highly pleased with his interview.

ORDERED TO LOUISVILLE.

Col. J. E. FARNUM, of the Veteran Reserve Corps, has been ordered to Louisville, Ky., to take command of the draft rendezvous in that city.

EXCHANGE OF NAVAL OFFICERS AND MEN.

The War Department has issued an order exchanging the naval officers and men exchanged at Cox's Landing, on the James River, Oct. 16, 1864. The cartel embraces some 50 officers and 150 men, all of whom are now within the Federal lines.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Nov. 27.

THE PEACE ADDRESS—THE PRESIDENT DECLINES RECEIVING IT.

About six weeks ago, Mr. JOSEPH PARKER, of Manchester, England, arrived at New-York, bringing with him the Peace Address of the subjects of Great Britain and Ireland, with a letter from Sir HENRY DE HOUGHTON to Gov. SEYMOUR, who declined formally to receive it, assigning as a reason, that it should be given to the President of the United States, the latter being the only authorized channel of communication between other nations and the citizens of the United States; and besides, Gov. SEYMOUR said his official position did not authorize him to accept the address in behalf of other States, and that it would be better to withhold the document until after the Presidential election, so as to avoid the appearance of interfering with the canvass. Mr. PARKER conformed to these suggestions, and having arrived here last week, addressed a note to Secretary SEWARD, stating that he had been deputed to this country to convey the address to the people of the United States, and asking the honor of an opportunity of presenting it to the President. To this the Secretary replied, that before answering the letter, it was desirable to be further informed whether Mr. PARKER had authority from the Government of Great Britain and Ireland, for the purpose referred to, and whether his mission had been made known to the Diplomatic Agent of that Government near the Government of the United States. Mr. PARKER replied by saying that the address he had the honor of bringing to this country, containing the signatures of some 350,000 of his countrymen from the peer to the artisan, was not from the Government of Great Britain, nor from any political party. It was simply an expression of the earnest desire of Great Britain to see peace restored again to this continent. The correspondence closed by a note from the Secretary of State, in which he said the Government of the United States could not receive the address, and that the request for an interview with the President was therefore declined. This address has already been published, and is signed by many Southern sympathizers, who ask the Government of the United States to cease hostilities against that section of the country. The intention now is to present the address to Congress at the approaching session.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST INCENDIARISMS.

Profiting by the recently-discovered incendiarism in New-York, additional watches and guards have been placed in the hotels, Government buildings and departments, and other measures adopted, as a precaution against similar attempts in this city. No general alarm, however, exists on the subject, though all classes of the community appreciate the importance of vigilance.

Amusements.

"Don Sebastian" will be given to-night for the second time in America. We have already spoken of the remarkable splendor of the production, of the merit of the music, and of the excellence of the singers. A work of such importance is seldom heard to advantage on the first night. It improves as the artists become familiar with their parts, and the audience displays its preference for particular morceaux. We anticipate a perfect rendering of the work to-night, and a success even more marked and emphatic than that of Friday. No opera has ever been given at the Academy of Music that contains so much for the eye and the ear.

Mr. EDWIN BOOTH commenced his regular engagement at the Winter Garden on Saturday evening. The house was, of course, densely crowded, and the favor of its occupants was liberally bestowed upon the young and excellent tragedian. SHAKESPEARE'S "Hamlet" was played, Mr. BOOTH sustaining the part of the Prince—a part in which he has no living equal. We have frequently dwelt upon its manifold merits, and need only add, on the present occasion, that each new performance reveals fresh traces of persistent study, of intellectual command, and of emotional sensibility. The play was in all respects well acted. It is seldom that we have a cast so substantially good, and we have no recollection of a Shakesperian revival that was more carefully and liberally undertaken. The scenery and dresses were entirely new and of remarkable excellence. Messrs. THORNE and WITHAM—the artists—achieved a success that was justified by correctness and an eminent sense of the picturesque. The last-named gentleman is new to the city. His ability—like that of his associate—will speedily commend him to the sympathies of the public. The expenditure for scenery is often extravagant, but it is seldom that we find, as in this instance, liberality and good taste so happily combined. Mr. STUART has the unquestionable credit of producing "Hamlet" in the best way it has yet been produced in New-York. We can do no more at present than thus briefly refer to an art revival which is destined, we think, to be the sensation of the season. It is pleasant to know that a sensation can be directed into so worthy a channel.

The announcements at the various places of amusement to-night are as follows: At Wallack's, (first time,) "To Marry or Not to Marry;" at the Olympic, "Milky White" and (first time) "St. George and the Dragon;" at Niblo's, "The Corsican Brothers;" at the Broadway, "The Poor Gentleman" and "The People's Lawyer;" at Barnum's, "Waiting for the Verdict," in the morning and afternoon, and "Linda di Chamounix," in the evening; at the French Theatre, (to-morrow night,) "Nos Alliées."

The Hippotheatron, the Menagerie, the Salle Diabolique, (HELLER'S,) the Salle Mormonistique, (Artemus Ward,) the Glass Blowers, &c., offer particular attractions, the particulars of which will be found in our advertising columns.

The schooner Ellen L. Smith, from Philadelphia, loaded with coals and bound to this port, foundered on the 23d instant, when about fifty miles to the westward of Cape Henry. The captain and crew arrived here to-day and report all hands saved.

Fires in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Saturday, Nov. 27.

The laboratory of W. S. MERRILL & Co., corner of Third and Race streets, was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss $50,000; one-third insured. The tobacco store of A. LEWIS & Co., adjoining, was damaged to the amount of $10,000. Insured.

The remains were taken to the station-house, where an inquest will be held to-day. Deceased resided at No. 139 East Thirty-eighth-street.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

An Officious Letter—A Correspondent Utters His Protest—Troubles of Scribblers—Removal of Bodies—Congratulatory Order of Gov. Seymour to His Troops—A Visit to a Cohorn Mortar Battery—Our Correspondent Takes a Hand In—An Artillery Duel—Severe Duty of the Men—Preparations for Thanksgiving.

From our Own Correspondent.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH CORPS, WELDON ROAD,
Wednesday, Nov. 23, 1864.

As I was sitting down to write a letter for the TIMES, this evening, our mail boat arrived and brought your correspondent a letter, the contents of which he will not soon forget. It was simply an impertinent and officiously foolish attempt to offer your "special" a long string of advice as to how he ought to conduct his correspondence from the army, and was penned and forwarded by some unknown individual, who had better in the future mind his own business, thereby enabling others to properly attend to theirs. This letter disturbed to a considerable extent the usual and well-known amiability of your correspondent, and he feels unable to proceed with his letter proper, until he has settled this new mentor of army scribblers.

After treating me to a painful and exceedingly lengthy exordium on the importance of army letters being exact and truthful descriptions of events and incidents to be found in camp-life, this extraordinary gentleman goes on to say, that he considers my letters very entertaining and gossiping—(I make my obeisance for the sugar on your pill, O critic)—but that I neglect a great many brilliant opportunities to startle and dazzle the public eye—(what an idea)—by sundry and well-concocted paragraphs of vague and indefinite information, of such a character that would lead the fertile and ever-anxious mind of the great mass of my readers to draw their own conclusions, (I wonder if he has been in consultation with your esteemed mail-clerk about the amount of the TIMES' circulation?) and after some time render my letters of much more interest.

He then goes on in somewhat the following strain: "Knowing, as you necessarily must, the prospect of any move in contemplation, nothing could be easier than for you to throw out a few well put hints, giving nothing definite, but very striking and sketchy in their outline—something that would at once tickle the public palate, and give them a consuming appetite for the real article." I suppose he means a sort of literary "S. T.—1860.—X.," or a sudden breaking off in the most interesting portion, merely giving the reader to understand that it "would be continued in my next," in imitation of the brilliant tactics of ye great BONNER and his "writes for the Ledger only." He next treats me to a review of my progress during recent campaigns that is at once both amusing and complimentary, but he recommends a more "flowery or florid manner in rounding off my striking periods."

Altogether, the letter is a curiosity I shall long retain, but I respectfully desire and earnestly enter my protest against the recurrence of similar attempts to annoy a peaceful gentleman, who only desires to be allowed to go on in his own peculiar way, and to endeavor, in an unpretending manner, to give the readers of the TIMES—the sensible portion of them, at least—a "plain, unvarnished tale," leaving to more ambitious pens the task of "rounding off striking periods." Your correspondent is opposed to striking anybody, even with periods. We often hear of the "fallen Peres," but what would be thought of "pelting periods," I wonder?

The gentleman who thus gratuitously tenders his insolent advice, perhaps is not aware that your correspondent is compelled to reside within the army limits, in order to furnish a truthful account of current events, and as such resident he is necessarily subject to strict military law. He has constantly to carry the Provost-Marshal-General's passport in his note-book; cannot even gallop his horse along the road, except beyond the range of vision of the watchful cavalryman, who, drawn sabre in hand, is ever on the alert for ambitious horsemen or hot-blooded stallions. In fact, that excepting that he is free to go backward and forward, throughout the army limits, in the exercise of his necessary functions, and is at perfect liberty to clear out and stay away as long as he pleases, he is as much under the embarrassing and often vexatious law of strict military régime, for the time being, as "any other man" who may be enrolled in the honorable service of the United States. Besides, the newspaper men are very often told, officially, that movements of troops or projected operations are contraband of war, and it is both right and expedient that they should be so.

No doubt my unknown adviser is also unaware that Generals have an ugly habit of putting "sketchy and vague" writers under arrest, and frequently of punishing them by turning them adrift on the wide wide world, with nothing but their carpet-sack and pencil with which to buffet the streams of this checkered life. I have heard of some ambitious and venturous spirits being caged for a time in that pretty boarding-place, the "Lafayette House," and although your correspondent never yet resided at that salubrious and delightful resort, he has no idea of rendering himself eligible for a Fellowship in the Government College, in order to please any number of unknown or officious admirers.

This incident is the first and only annoyance I have yet met with that was occasioned by the recent military custom of army correspondents signing their full names to all letters published by them in their respective journals. The custom has been the cause, on the other hand, of being of great use and frequently of actual benefit in a variety of instances. In one of my letters previous to the late and gloriously triumphant election, I mentioned the fact of there being an utter want and scarcity of election ballots of the Union persuasion, and urged the gentlemen having the printing and distribution of such documents, to hurry up their packages for the army. To my surprise I received, a day or two after the publication of my letter, a huge bundle of Electoral Tickets for the State of New-York, from some unknown source. Your readers would have been amused if they could have seen me riding about the camps, my pockets stuffed with "Lincum dokyments," and would have enjoyed my manner of riding into some New-York regiment and sowing the good seed broadcast over the land. I think that I ought to get a Cabinet appointment for my "admirable manner of conducting the elections," as the rebel journals have it, but I am afraid that my humble efforts have been overlooked.

I have also been the happy means, I am glad to say, of being able to afford an anxious father the gratifying intelligence that his son was still alive and well, although the young scapegrace had neglected to write to his loving parents for some months. I found, on inquiry, the father's respectful letter in my hand, that the young man then busy in superintending the reduction of sundry fat slices of pork into rashers, was the chap I was in search of. Of course, I walked into that young man like the Dutch uncle who is popularly supposed to be in the habit of doing such things.

And although sorry to do so, I was compelled at another time to dash the last lingering hopes of a suffering father and mother, who despite the rumors of their son's death, still clung with tenacious fondness to the belief that their gallant boy still lived—even though a prisoner, but I found that no hopes existed, and so kindly but firmly informed them. I have also been the means of distributing express boxes and packages, and in a dozen different ways have been made useful by people who could devise no better way of gleaning intelligence, or sending articles to their loved ones in the army.

I always took a pleasure in attending to any little office of a kindly nature for unknown correspondents, for the requests always came couched in such grateful language that one could not refuse. But I trust that no more officious people will attempt to instruct me in my profession, which is simply none of their business, and at all events nothing but a matter of mere taste. If my palate tickling friend wishes any such pabulum, I advise him to subscribe for the weather-cock cotemporary of yours who delights to furnish such highly seasoned dishes. I beg to assure him that the TIMES does not deal in such cookery, and I, for one, do not understand the ingredients. With these few words of advice I quietly "let him slide."

It will no doubt be a matter of great interest to those suffering and mourning ones who have lost loved ones during the past campaigns, especially during the present siege, that the present season is a very favorable one for the removal of the remains of our gallant dead. This is being done already in a number of instances, but not to that extent that I judge would be the case if the facilities for such removal were more widely known. To be able to remove dead bodies in safety, and with propriety, it is necessary to have a shell lined with zinc, in which the remains can be readily and speedily placed. Each soldier is buried in his blanket, and I learn that it has been found by experience that bodies thus interred can be easily taken up without disturbing the sanctity or state of the remains. Coffins lined with the necessary zinc can be found on sale at City Point, and the necessary transportation from the grave to the Point can always be readily obtained on application to the proper authority.

The New-York State troops in the Second Division of the Second Corps, under the temporary command of Brig.-Gen. T. W. EGAN, having behaved with distinguished gallantry during the recent reconnoissance in force on the Boydton plank road, on the 27th of October, have received from their Commanding General the highest enconiums and praise. He also wrote to the Governor of the State respecting the conduct of the New-York troops, which elicited the following communication from the Adjutant-General's office:

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW-YORK,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.
ALBANY, Nov. 15, 1864.

Colonel: A communication has been received at these Headquarters from Brig.-Gen. T. W. EGAN, commanding Second Division, Second Army Corps, Army of the Potomac, wherein he speaks in the highest terms of the conduct of your regiment ——, New-York State Volunteers in the late operations before Petersburg.

I am instructed by his Excellency Gov. SEYMOUR to express his gratification and to tender his thanks to the officers and men of the regiment for this additional evidence of the good conduct of New-York troops in the discharge of their duties.

I am, Colonel, very respectfully your obedient servant,
(Signed) JOHN T. SPRAGUE,
Adjutant-General.

The following regiments received this congratulatory order: Eight Heavy Artillery, Tenth, Fifty-ninth, One Hundred and Fifty-second, One Hundred and Fifty-fifth, One Hundred and Sixty-fourth, One Hundred and Seventieth and One Hundred and Eighty-second New-York State Volunteers. It is pleasant to be able to publish so good and so well-earned an order of congratulation, and the prompt attention of the State authorities, and the praise of their Commanding General, will renew the ardor of these regiments, already so famous for their gallant deeds, to fresh endeavors.

I went over this afternoon to the lines on the extreme right of the Second Corps, and took occasion to make a visit to one of the numerous coehorn mortar batteries, on this portion of the line. As I always find your readers—at least such of them as I have the honor of knowing—are glad to learn anything about the mode of living among the trenches, and the manner of firing at the enemy's works, perhaps a gossip about my visit would not be out of place. Such being the case, I shall make no further apology for scribbling down my experiences now and then when I go down upon the front lines.

As you come up to the main works, and are crossing the field behind, the first intimation you receive of the proximity of danger is an injunction to be quick about getting in. Your legs naturally quicken their steps, and eventually—if they are anything like mine—break into an ignominious run. On getting up close to the bomb-proofs, you follow your guide into a little ditch, which gradually deepens into a cutting; turning abruptly two or three times, you at last emerge, all of a sudden, into a little square inclosure, the walls of which are at least ten feet high. Here you see that logs, bags of sand, and gabions, compose the sustaining or inner wall. In the centre are two funny little brass mortars, superbly finished, and shining like specks of gold. Sitting like a pair of frogs, there they squat, seemingly bursting with a sense of their own importance. On one side lays an ammunition box, holding half a dozen shell.

As I expressed a wish to see the little monster in action, the Lieutenant in charge kindly complied with my request. Taking a couple of little stakes he set one of them up on the bank a foot or two from the inner wall, the other was set up right on the edge. While I was wondering what he meant by this proceeding, he called my attention to the fact that his two pegs were in direct line with a certain battery of the enemy's. He then tied a cord to the outer peg and carrying it back over one of the coehorns he brought it exactly over the centre of the bed. Driving in a third peg in rear for his piece, he fastened the cord, and thus established his line of fire. Pushing his mortar about until his sight ranged precisely with his line, (first loading, by the way, the piece,) the string was removed, and a cap applied. Pulling the lanyard with a sudden jerk, bang went the barking little mortar and away went the shell. Meanwhile the gun keeled over in the most scientific manner, from the effects of the recoil.

The Lieutenant, however, accustomed to such antics, had been watching the effects of his shot. Calling me hurriedly to his side, he pointed gleefully to a little cloud of dust and smoke away off in the enemy's lines, which told me that his aim had been a good one. The mortar was then reloaded and the same process gone through with. I then took it into my head that I should like to fire off the coehorn, and by permission of the Lieutenant was placed in possession of the awful lanyard. At the word "fire," I shut my eyes and—pulled. This time I was quite as anxious as my friend in looking for the shot to strike, and I am happy to say that my shot was quite as successful as its predecessor. A second time your correspondent bravely pulled the string, this time keeping his eyes wide open, and again he had the satisfaction of hurling a shell into the enemy's works.

As is usual upon this portion of our lines, the rebels replied with a solid shot from a casemated battery that has the enfilading fire already spoken of. Being rifle guns, they could not touch us, but we naturally run out of the little cubby-hole we were in to see the fun. I was informed that our batteries would speedily reply, and sure enough a gun right behind me poked its ugly snout out of an embrasure, and, before I could get out from before it, it blazed away. I was not hit, however, as you will naturally infer. But I got an awful shake and a jar from the windage of the shell as it whistled over my head. The shot was a good one, and buried itself in the back of the fort, scattering a cloud of dust and sand in its explosion.

Another battery in front of where I stood also opened, and it executed some magnificent practice. Again and again were our shell thrown into their very casemates, and at each discharge breeching great gaps in their forts' banks. The rebel fort being, however, a casemated one, not as much damage was done as would otherwise be imagined, but they were compelled to "shut pan and dry up" as an enthusiastic Coehorn mortar-man exclaimed when he saw that no more guns were fired on their part.

The picket duty on this part of our line I found to be very hard and severe. Several men have been killed and wounded while in their camps, since the 1st of November. The Tenth New-York and the Fourteenth Connecticut, are the two regiments most exposed to the enemy's fire. Both regiments are performing their hazardous duty in splendid style, as their little grave-yard too painfully attests. In the Tenth New-York, Lieut.-Col. G. F. HOPPER, are two of the many representatives that the TIMES has in the army. One as a First Lieutenant, and the other as a Sergeant. While pitying the commands in having to perform so much dangerous duty, I could not repress my admiration of the readiness and cheerfulness with which they set about carrying out the orders of their superiors.

We are busily engaged in preparing for our Thanksgiving dinner, which the liberality of the people at home have placed at our disposal. I hear exciting stories of thousands of turkeys being at City Point ready for delivery. Circulars have been issued to the proper officers to be in readiness at the principal depots early to-morrow to receive their allotted share. I understand that it is anticipated that turkey ration will be about one pound to each man, and apples in proportion. Let us hope that these pleasant prospects may be fully carried out; but I am afraid that the bounty of the Northern people will be sadly diverted from those for whom it is especially intended. My past experience has taught me a sad lesson. But let us hope for the best. Should there unfortunately be any grievance or any just complaint, I shall not hesitate to show up any of the delinquent parties that I may find. It is about time the poor suffering private soldier had his just dues.

The weather is very clear, and a shade less cold than when the rain first ceased. The picket firing to-night is terribly distinct, but I am happy to say that the coehorns are silent, the columbiads slumbering, and the "other guns" are respectfully keeping their own counsel. I expect to sleep well to-night, so good night. GEO. F. WILLIAMS.

The Rebels Among Us—Let them be Watched.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The dastardly preconcerted conspiracy to set on fire the principal hotels of our city will, doubtless, fill the minds of all law-abiding citizens, of whatever political denomination, with feelings of deepest indignation, and will naturally give rise to grave considerations as to the means of preventing the recurrence of such a fiendish, diabolical plot.

That it originated with the Southern secessionists, who are counted by thousands among us, no one in his sane senses will for a moment doubt; and if this splendid metropolis, if our lives and property, are for the future to be at the mercy of a set of incarnate traitors and scoundrels, we may as well initiate an exodus to other climes, and leave these wretches in the full and undisturbed possession of the city.

If this atrocious act had not providentially been discovered in time, it is perfectly appalling to contemplate what would have been the results. Certainly, a large portion of the city would have been burnt to the ground, and the consequent loss of life and property would have been almost beyond calculation.

What then should be done to insure comparative safety and security for the future? I would briefly urge the following protective measures:

1. Let the proprietors of our hotels and large boarding-houses hold a public meeting, and pledge themselves to scrutinize strictly the antecedents and proclivities of every guest and inmate now in their dwellings.
2. Let them pledge themselves to refuse admission, for the future, to every person in any way connected, or reasonably supposed to be connected with the South.
3. Let there be generally, throughout the city, a rigid inquiry as to the habits, conduct, and conversation of every known refugee from the South and rebel sympathizer, and where the scrutiny is unsatisfactory, let the man or woman be incontinently expelled and put into the street.
4. In connection with these steps, I would establish a Bureau of Observation, where the names, characters, and, as far as possible, the photograph of every Southerner in our midst be entered and recorded, with every information that can be obtained as to their previous residences, occupation and conduct. I presume, in this aspect, the Government can afford valuable aid, and would cheerfully unite with the civil authorities in the proposed plan.

I merely throw out these crude suggestions for consideration. Doubtless you will receive many from other correspondents, and among the whole, I trust, some preventive plan will be adopted which will calm the present agitation in the public mind, and enable our citizens to sleep safely in their beds, without the constant fear of being, without a moment's warning, in danger of their lives, and their property imperiled by any such barbarous, devilish and inhuman conspiracy in future. ### Alabama and Sea King.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Allow me to trespass on your space, and in as brief a manner as possible point out the outrageous conduct of the British Government in the matter of her protection to the Confederate pirates now afloat. It has been argued that she has not the power to refuse those vessels harborage and supplies in any of her own or Colonial ports. This is unquestionably a fallacy. The Alabama and other pirates, and now more recently the Sea King, have taken out clearance papers for certain ports; they no sooner got out of British waters than they hoist a flag known to be hostile to the commercial interest of the United States. Those vessels having thus violated their clearances have become subject to punishment and confiscation according to the Custom-House laws of Britain. They have no more right to asylum and protection in any British port than has an escaped convict or felon a right to protection in her dominions against her criminal laws.

A BRITISH SUBJECT.

THE PLOT TO BURN THE CITY.

SEVERAL ARRESTS MADE.

THE DETECTIVES AT WORK.

ORDERS FROM GENERAL DIX.

Since the full account published in the TIMES yesterday of the diabolical attempt to burn this city, nothing of special importance has transpired. It is settled, however, beyond a doubt, that the infernal plot was the deliberate work of Southern traitors, who had for their object the complete destruction of the city. Several arrests have been made, and the prospects are fair for the securing of a majority of the criminals, who, according to the order of Gen. DIX, published below, will, on conviction, be "executed without the delay of a single day." The police are in possession of important evidence, which it is not proper to give to the public now, but which promises the most satisfactory results. The principal hotels fired—the Astor, St. Nicholas, Fifth-avenue, Lafarge, St. James, Metropolitan, Howard, United States, Lovejoy's, Tammany, Belmont and Hanford, are secure against any further incendiary attempts.

The plot to destroy the city proves to be far more extensive than was at first supposed. The men selected by rebel sympathizers to do the work, carefully prepared a plan which, had it not been frustrated by our hotel proprietors being warned of their danger by the police, must have resulted to the satisfaction of the fiends in whose brain it originated. Besides the hotels and other public establishments fired, it has been ascertained that arrangements were made for extensive conflagrations even in the suburbs of the city. Most of the work of the incendiaries was done before one o'clock Saturday morning, although the New-England Hotel and some others were fired after that hour.

The St. Nicholas has probably suffered the worst—the damage there will probably amount to $3,000. Lovejoy's Hotel was set on fire twice. The first attempt to burn it was about 10:30 o'clock, and the second at near 12 o'clock.

Several attempts were made to burn the shipping in the harbor; but in that direction the plotters failed most miserably. Shortly after 12 o'clock on Saturday morning a barge, loaded with hay, lying at the pier between Beach and North Moore streets, was found to be on fire by Officer HAMILTON, of the Fifth Precinct. The flames were extinguished without great damage. The police found a broken bottle, which had contained phosphorous, on the vessel.

The barge Merchant, lying at the bulkhead between Franklin and North Moore streets, was also discovered to be on fire by Officer HAMILTON. A broken bottle, recently containing the same material, was also found there. Owing to the promptness of the police and firemen, the barge was but slightly damaged.

The detectives are hard at work, and the public will undoubtedly soon be in possession of full particulars.

Summary Punishment for the Villains—The Penalty of Death—Notice to Southern Refugees—A Registry of Their Names—Hotel and Boarding-house Keepers to be Held Responsible.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST,
NEW-YORK, Nov. 26, 1864.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 92.—A nefarious attempt was made last night to set fire to the principa hotels and other places of public resort in this city. If this attempt had succeeded, it would have resulted in a frightful sacrifice of property and life. The evidences of extensive combination, and other facts disclosed to-day, show it to have been the work of rebel emissaries and agents. All such persons engaged in secret acts of hostility here can only be regarded as spies, subject to martial law, and to the penalty of death. If they are detected, they will be immediately brought before a court-martial or military commission, and, if convicted, they will be executed without the delay of a single day. By command of Major-Gen. DIX.

D. T. VAN BUREN, Colonel and Asst. Adjt.-Gen.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST,
NEW-YORK CITY, Nov. 26, 1864.

GENERAL ORDERS No. 93.—The Major-General Commanding renews the notice given by General Orders No. 80 to all persons from the insurgent States, to register their names at the headquarters of Major-Gen. JOHN J. PECK, second in command in the Department, at No. 37 Bleecker-street, within twenty-four hours after their arrival in this city. If any such person fails to comply with this requirement, he will be regarded as a spy, and treated accordingly.

Keepers of hotels and boarding-houses are requested to send to the same headquarters the names of all persons from the insurgent States taking lodgings with them immediately on the arrival of such persons. It is not doubted that the danger which the city has just escaped will insure a compliance with this request. If any one fails to comply with it he will be held responsible for any evil consequences which may result from the omission.

By command of Maj.-Gen. DIX.
D. T. VAN BUREN, Colonel and Assistant Adjutant-General.

The Incendiaries and the New-York Hotel.

NEW-YORK HOTEL, Sunday, Nov. 27, 1864.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

SIR: In your issue of this morning I find the following query, headed "Information Wanted:"

Why was there no attempt to fire the New-York Hotel? (Signed) INQUIRING MIND.
Editor TIMES says: "Ask the incendiaries."

This does not directly point to me; yet, as proprietor of the New-York Hotel, I feel that I can give "Inquiring Mind" a little information.

In the first place, the New-York Hotel is almost exclusively a family hotel, and kept always full, so that a suspicious character, one who travels only with "a small black leather bag" cannot obtain a room. In fact, it is the general order that rooms be only given to persons known, and such as may be introduced by resident guests of the house.

Since the war commenced the New-York Hotel has had fewer politicians for its guests than most other hotels, and no man has been arrested and taken from it to Government fortresses for political offences.

THE ASTOR HOUSE THE RENDEZVOUS.

"HAYNES was in the habit of receiving frequent visits from mysterious individuals, and from this circumstance it is believed that the Astor House was a sort of rendezvous for all the conspirators. Fires were made in his room very often, according to the chambermaid, and remarkable consultations seemed to be held there."

From the above, taken from to-day's Herald, you see the Astor House was the rendezvous of the conspirators. Yet STETSON is not accused of keeping a hotel for thieves and incendiaries. I am led to believe he is only saved by having his house set on fire.

Will you oblige me by asking "Inquiring Mind" if I cannot convince my fellow-citizens of my "loyalty" in some other manner than by setting fire to my hotel.

Very truly, your obedient servant,
HIRAM CRANSTON.

BROOKLYN AND LONG ISLAND CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.—A very interesting meeting was held at Lee-avenue Church, Brooklyn, (E. D.,) last evening, under the auspices of the above Commission. Eloquent addresses were made by Chaplain E. P. ROE, of Hampton Hospital, Virginia, and Rev. GEORGE N. WOODRUFF, of Hansom-place Church.

Brandreth's Pills.

Often when these Pills are taken into the stomach, their work of mercy commences as soon as they come in contact with the coats of that organ, and apparently by some nervous influence that is transmitted through the whole system, and seems often to arrest the progress of diseased action in remote parts of the body. But they are mostly taken up by the absorbents, and carried into the circulation, through which medium they are conveyed to every organ and to every part of the system—imparting to the blood that principle of life which disease and all poisonous remedies have a tendency to destroy. They also search the glandular system, and break up all those congested poisonous matters on which disease depends, and expel them from the body, so that instead of taking from the blood any essential property, they actually impart to it that very principle on which life depends.

I have found your Pills to be never-failing in Diarrhœa, Billious Affections, Headache and Costiveness. How is it the Sanitary people do not give out your Pills?

Yours, with great respect,

The President Petroleum Company, of PRESIDENT, VENANGO COUNTY, PENN.—The advertisement of complete organization is published on another page, and fully explains the plan of the corporation. It will be seen that the officers and directors are of excellent commercial standing and influence. Very liberal advantages are offered to subscribers, and the territory of the company is so ample that there is a very fair prospect of immense returns to the stockholders. It appears that this company has secured on the Alleghany River and favorite tributaries an oil-bearing territory of over ten and a half miles in extent. Immediately adjoining the lands of the President Company, several successful wells have been sunk, and there is strong testimony in favor of a great success for this enterprise. It is intended to form two more companies out of the territory secured by the "President," which will, of course, inure to the benefit of the original stockholders. The subscription agents in New-York, Messrs. L. H. SIMPSON & CO., No. 64 Cedar-st., supply all information as to details that may be desired by subscribers. $100 now paid in secures $500 of the original stock.

ÆSTHTEICO-NEURALGICON,

DR. VONEISENBERG'S

NEW INVENTION

FOR THE CURE
OF THE MOST COMPLICATED
DISEASES OF THE ORGANS OF

SIGHT,

HEARING,

AS WELL AS

CHRONIC CATARRH,

DISEASED THROAT,

AND ANY DISEASE WHERE THE MUCOUS MEMBRANE IS DESTROYED OR IMPAIRED.

As the meaning of the name given by Dr. VON EISENBERG to his new Invention may not be easily comprehended, we (the New-York Evening Express give the following explanation of its uses for the bette nderstanding of the general sufferer:

ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGCONI

s derived from the Greek word Aisoptikos, which, in its literal acceptation, signifies pertaining to the senses the theory or philosophy of tastes, the science of sensations or that which explains the cause of mental pain or pleasure. Neuralgicon is a compound of the two Greek words, neuron, a nerve, and logos, a discourse with the suffirecon. The meaning conveyed by the term is, that it is an instrument or machine devised on philosophical principles with a thorough knowledge of the nervous system.

In describing the matter more at length to show its uses, that it might be better understood by the general sufferer, we give a simpler explanation. The nervous system is the source of many diseases.

All physicians admit this, and all profess at least to be able to apply a remedy. The Allopathic, Homœopathic and Hydropathic, by prescribing opiates, anodynes, &c., may, and do, alleviate the pain arising from impaired or diseased nerves, but this does not restore the nerve. It is only temporary relief—a relief, too, to some one nerve at the expense of the entire system. The Æsthetico-Neuralgicon of Dr. VON EISENBERG not merely allays the irritation, but restores the nerve to its normal condition. The Doctor's theory is, that each nerve has a specific office, and has its own peculiar susceptibility. Thus, for example, the nerve of vision is insensible to touch, and, on the other hand, the nerve of touch is insensible to light, and so on through the whole system. The great excellence of this æsthetical instrument is, that it can be applied not on guess-work principles, which are no principles at all, but that it can be applied with accuracy and certainty to any nerorve nerves that are weakened or impaired, to the different nerves of motion, or sensation, to the eye, the ear, or the touch, as in paralysis.

To those, therefore, who are in any way afflicted with loss of sight or hearing, with catarrh, bronchitis, chest or lung diseases, we earnestly suggest a visit to the consulting apartments of Dr. VON EISENBERG. There he will be speedily made to know the possibility of a cure in even complicated cases, and thus be encouraged to proceed until he is discharged thoroughly renovated and cured.

The reader, on perusing what we have here presented him, touching the beauty, complexity, costliness, touching the various uses to which the Aesthetico-Neuralgicon can be applied, may be induced to believe that in the warmth of our commendations we have exceeded the sober truth as to its utility; but we know we have not exceeded the limits of common sense in our description. We care not how prejudiced any one may be against it: he cannot, when it is thoroughly explained to him—and that the inventor is prepared to do at any time to those who call upon him—but be convinced it is all that is claimed for it, namely, the most perfect mechanical contrivance for the exhibition of spiritualized and etherealized medical preparations now in existence. He will even confess, if he be justly minded, that in many respects it is destined to bring about an entire revolution in certain departments of science, and that it is what its inventor, with reason, holds an apparatus that will do more to mitigate human suffering than anything that, in all the past to this time, has been afforded to the world.—New-York Evening Express, Sept. 28, 1864.

NEW TESTIMONIALS.

Catarrh Cured.

LINCOLN HOSPITAL, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.

I have been for several years past afflicted with chronic dry catarrh, which a year ago became so bad that my hearing threatened to leave me altogether. My throat became greatly affected. There was a constant roaring in my head, which, with the other symptoms, was always greatly aggravated by the slightest "cold." Dr. Von Eisenberg commenced treating me a year ago, and has continued to treat me at long intervals since. I am happy to state that the treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg has produced a constant improvement, so that my hearing is almost perfectly restored. My nostrils are free from inflammation, and my general health is so much improved that I look for its permanent restoration, and that speedily, as a fixed fact. I do cheerfully recommend all persons suffering from catarrhal affections to apply to Dr. Von Eisenberg for treatment, feeling assured that with proper opportunity he will effect a cure.

JAMES T. FERRIE, Captain U. S. A.

I was completely deaf for several years, and hearing of Dr. Von Eisenberg's great reputation in restoring the hearing, I called on him, and in one operation, to my great astonishment and excessive pleasure, I now hear perfectly well. I came into the Doctor perfectly deaf, and hear as I never expected to do. This skill is unrivaled.

CHARLES CHAPPELL,
Washington Market.

NEW-YORK, Oct. 5, 1864.

AN EXTRAORDINARY RESTORATION OF SIGHT.

I, LAWRENCE GRENNA, of No. 188 East 36th-st., New-York City, have been suffering from blindness of the left eye for a considerable period. The eye was continually in a state of great inflammation, from which the good eye became affected, and, indeed, my general health was greatly injured by it. Hearing of Dr. Von Eisenberg's great reputation, and as everyone said mine was a hopeless case, I called on the Doctor, who, after examining me, undertook my case, and within a fortnight I found myself almost completely cured. It is now a month since I placed myself under Dr. Von Eisenberg's treatment. I am happy to be able to state that the inflammation is entirely gone, so that I see perfectly with both eyes, added to which I am in good health, a blessing I have not enjoyed since I was blind. I do conscientiously and gratefully swear to the above statement, in a Court of Justice at the City Hall of the City of New-York, the 10th day of October, 1864.

LAWRENCE GRENNA.

Sworn before me this 10th day of October, 1864.
C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor.
{The Grand Seal of the New-York Mayoralty.}

Dr. VON EISENBERG may be consulted on the diseases of the eye and ear, and for catarrh, at the office, No. 816 Broadway, New-York.

THE ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON is now on exhibition at Dr. VON EISENBERG'S Consulting Rooms No. 816 BROADWAY, near 12th-st.

The piece has been placed on the stage under the immediate direction of Mr. Booth, by Mr. J. G. Hamly, Stage Manager, in a style, it is hoped, combining splendor of production with strict historical correctness. The play has been in active preparation for the last three months, and no expense or effort has been spared in the endeavor by a more strictly pictorial arrangement of the ordinary stage resources, and by the fidelity, appropriateness and superior execution of the several means of scenic illusion, to carry out the spirit of the play into the most minute details, and thus advance the Drama as a branch of national literature and art.
The scenery, music, costumes, properties, and machinery are entirely new, and to give a perfect completeness to the cast engagements have been made with

ACADEMY OF MUSIC—ITALIAN OPERA.
Director......MAX MARETZEK.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—The performance, in consequence of its length, will COMMENCE AT HALF-PAST SEVEN PRECISELY. Doors open at 6¾.
TO-NIGHT—DON SEBASTIAN.
A CARD.—The opera of "Don Sebastian" is the latest work of the composer, G. Donizetti, and like "William Tell"—the latest work of Rossini—it ranks as his chef d'œuvre. Upward of eighteen years have elapsed since it was written. During that period it has frequently been produced in the principal opera-houses of Europe, and contemporary criticism has unhesitatingly pronounced it to be the most important work of the modern Italian repertoire. The melodies are striking, the concerted pieces unusually important, the choruses large, and the instrumentation varied and picturesque. The story, too, is eminently dramatic, and filled with those startling situations which Scribe knew so well how to invent and use. The opportunities for scenic display can hardly be excelled. Indeed, the necessities of the opera are so great that it is only in first-class opera-houses that they can be attended to. For many years past "Don Sebastian" has been promised in New-York by successive managers; but, when the moment arrived for putting the work in rehearsal, no one has ventured to face the enormous expenditure that its preparation demanded. The Director is glad that it has been reserved for him to do so. Confident of the appreciation of the public, he has not hesitated to bring out this opera in the most costly and complete way. The scenery and dresses are entirely new, and produced a sensation at the first representation. They have been prepared at an expense of many thousands of dollars.
Notwithstanding the fact that nearly

Mr. GOTTSCHALK's constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

STEINWAY & SON
GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

THE WEBER PIANO-FORTE
Is admitted the best Piano-forte made, because the maker, beside being a practical mechanic of long experience, is also a thorough musician, thus combining advantages possessed by no other manufacturer in the United States. Jerome Hopkins, Charles Fradel, Max Maretzek, Carl Anschutz, John Zundle, Maurice Strakosch, Giovani Sconcia, and every good musician in the United States. # THE WAR IN TENNESSEE.

Hood's Army Concentrating at Columbia, Tenn.—Gen. Thomas' Army Near Columbia, in Hood's Front—A Battle Expected—Communication by Telegraph to Columbia Interrupted.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Saturday, Nov. 25.

HOOD's army, numbering probably forty thousand men, have been for several days past concentrating south of Columbia, Tenn.

Our forces in the meantime have evacuated Pulaski, Huntsville and Decatur, which places are now in the hands of the rebels.

Our forces are near and about Columbia, in HOOD's front. They are commanded by Gen. THOMAS.

On the 24th inst. some severe skirmishing occurred, resulting in a loss to the Federals of 44 killed and wounded. The rebel loss is estimated 264. Among the killed was one rebel Colonel.

Large bodies of troops are here massed in HOOD's front, and some heavy fighting may be expected in that direction in a few days.

Communication by telegraph to Columbia has been interrupted since yesterday.

There are rumors in circulation that there was heavy fighting yesterday between the opposing armies, but no official advices of an engagement have yet been received.

Skirmishing Between Pulaski and Columbia—Our Forces Behind Duke River.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sunday, Nov. 27—10:20 P. M.

There has been smart skirmishing between Pulaski and Columbia for some days.

We have fallen back behind Duck River. Part of FORREST's forces have also crossed the river, on our right flank, and are aiming to strike the road in our rear.

HOOD's main army is supposed to be moving on the pike road toward Shelbyville and Wartrace.

The Situation of Hood's Army—Gen. Thomas's Whereabouts—Something Likely to Happen—Gillem's Defeat—A Massacre.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Monday, Nov. 21, 1864.

THE REBEL SITUATION IN MIDDLE TENNESSEE.

Since my last, regarding the movements of BEAUREGARD's army, some little changes have transpired; and, possibly, the enemy may grow bold in this quarter, since any attempt on his part to even annoy the moving columns of "Tecumseh" would prove fruitless. The excess of folly was committed by BEAUREGARD, when he marched his army four hundred miles to the rear of the Federal front.

> "Like ships that sailed for sunny isles,
> But never came to shore!"

I think we will be the fate of this foolish Frenchman, who reached the acme of his renown in Charleston harbor, in April, 1861.

The last information I gave you concerning the whereabouts of the rebel Army of Tennessee found BEAUREGARD quietly located at the mansion of Dr. STOUT, of Corinth, with STEWART's corps, consisting of about 10,000 men, there and thereabouts. I have reason to believe that just the same state of things exists to-day in that quarter of the Confederacy. Most of S. D. LEE's corps at that time was at Jackson, the terminus of the railroad. FRANK CHEATHAM's corps was at Florence, where also was HOOD, the General Commanding in the field. The following changes have taken place, it is believed. That STEPHEN D. LEE has removed his entire corps from Jackson to South Florence, and that FRANK CHEATHAM has crossed the river with his corps, and made headquarters at Waynesboro, a small town situated on or near Greene's Creek, a branch of Duck River, and about half way between Columbia, Tennessee, and Florence, Alabama. FORREST is in command of all the cavalry, which is strong, and in good trim, and holds undisputed possession of the entire country within a radius of thirty miles of Florence.

Supplies reach the rebel army daily, the railroad being in good running order from Corinth (the base) to South Florence. The latter place is bridged with Florence proper, which is directly opposite. A gentleman who has lately arrived from Tuscumbia, which is on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, between Iuka and Florence, reports that the rebel means of transportation are scanty, but that enough supplies reach Corinth daily to distribute liberally among the men. He says the animals suffer, and reports that, in consequence, at least one-third of the cavalry are located between Corinth and Booneville, on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, and adds that the corn-cribs of Tishamingo County and other portions of Northern Mississippi groan with the weight of grain. The rivers and creeks are all high, and the country through which BEAUREGARD is operating abounds with them. I can indorse this latter sentence, as I came near getting drowned one night in April, 1862, while fording the multiplicity of creeks which lie between Waynesboro and Savannah. I was in company with Mr. SHEPPARD, of the World, and, being anxious to reach Pittsburgh Landing, where a battle was raging, the thunders of which we had listened to forty miles off, we took the chances, and barely escaped with our lives.

This gentleman, while in conversation with one of the editors of the Union, of this city, says that he had the run of the rebel camps, and gives 40,000 men as his careful estimate of the number of BEAUREGARD's troops, 15,000 of whom are cavalry. The latter is not doubted by the authorities here, as it is known that FORREST has a very strong force of mounted men. All the cavalry connected with the rebel army of Tennessee, except IVERSON's brigade, are with him, and it must be remembered that FORREST's own independent command, with which he has ranged all over this section, never numbered less than six thousand brave men, and it is known that he has received heavy reinforcements lately from some point.

There have been several slight skirmishes during the past week between portions of the rebel cavalry, under Gen. RODDY, and portions of our own under Gen. CUXTON, neither party, as I have learned, sustaining much loss. At one time last week, the rebel cavalry showed themselves between Waynesboro and Mount Pleasant, but were driven back by our cavalry under Col. SPAULDING. There is no other news of interest that I can learn regarding BEAUREGARD, and I guess this is about all that is known at headquarters. What the intentions of the rebel commander are is merely a matter of conjecture, as no movements of his have transpired of sufficient importance to develop his real object.

I consider that BEAUREGARD feels in about the same humor the individual did who drew the elephant. Certainly, since establishing himself with a reliable base, he has had ample time to demonstrate in this vicinity to his heart's content. There was a time when his advance upon Nashville would have stirred us up a little, but the occasion for all such performances has passed, and the authorities seem to pay as little attention to the movements or intentions of the lymphatic creole, as though long ago he had ceased to exist.

Situated so near the rebel army as we are now, gives rise to many opinions and conjectures, while the wildest sort of "grapevine" rumors are dispatched about, and canards of the most absurd nature secure patronage. One of the liveliest of yesterday was to the effect that BEAUREGARD would attempt to recapture either Memphis or Vicksburgh. Again, last evening, I heard that Western Kentucky was the destination of the enemy. But I guess he will not attempt to do either. If he does not fight Gen. THOMAS in Middle Tennessee, he will run away. You will ask, "What for? Where will he go?" Well that's just what I want to know.

GEN. THOMAS' ARMY.

Gen. THOMAS' forces are very properly located—so cleverly that Gen. BEAUREGARD cannot run the risk of playing too bold a game. Beside, we have been and are being heavily reinforced, and our entire cavalry arm is being overhauled and reorganized by Gen. WILSON, from the Army of the Potomac. The bulk of our army is at Pulaski, on the Decatur and Nashville Railroad, in splendid condition, the men being well fed and well clothed, with money in their pockets. The new troops are distributed judiciously, and put through a vigorous system of drill three times a day. Pulaski is a very pretty town, near the Alabama State line, between sixty and seventy miles south from Nashville. Gen. STANLEY commands the Fourth Corps and Gen. COX the Twenty-third Corps. Both are excellent officers. The whole are under the command of Gen. SCHOFIELD in the field, whose headquarters are at Spring Hill, a small place between Franklin and Columbia. Gen. SCHOFIELD is greatly beloved as an officer and a man. His presence upon all critical occasions is fully appreciated, while his unadulterated patriotism fills the space in which he moves. His operations from Chattanooga to Atlanta gave the most unbounded evidences of his great military sagacity. Beside, he is a superb fighter, and a clever gentleman. Gen. THOMAS is still in this city, with headquarters at the St. Cloud Hotel.

I think there will something lively transpire in less than a month in this department, even if the movements of BEAUREGARD do not necessitate some such event before. As long as the latter-named officer remains at Corinth, with his army hovering about Florence, little notice will be taken of him. He is not doing us or the Government the least harm so long as he remains in statu quo. If he robs or molests the people down that way, loyalty does not receive a very painful wound, and the main sufferers will be those who contributed largely toward bringing about the present state of disorder.

FROM EAST TENNESSEE.

There are some extremely ugly rumors, and documents to match, being received from East Tennessee regarding the defeat sustained by GILLEM on the 13th inst. As I am very careful about language I employ in reference to United States officers and soldiers, I shall just briefly mention the fact that it is believed in certain official circles in this city, that GILLEM was the victim of jealousy on the part of some other general officers at Knoxville. According to information received by Gen. THOMAS and Gov. JOHNSON, GILLEM, after ascertaining beyond a doubt, that he was being pressed by three brigades, commenced falling back with his little brigade of three regiments, and at the same time called upon two Brigadiers at Knoxville for not only reinforcements, but food for his brave men, who had been three days without rations of any kind, except fresh meat. He kept falling back in good order, all the while crying for help, but no assistance came to him until his routed army arrived at Strawberry Plains. Here he was met by three hundred men of the Ninth Michigan Cavalry, who had left Knoxville on the morning of the 14th, six days after they had been called for. According to all accounts, and I have seen several letters addressed to Gov. JOHNSON and Gen. MILLIGAN, the deportment of GILLEM during the dreadful confusion of his troops, was grand in the extreme. Parson BROWNLOW writes that the disaster might have been averted, but that a lack of harmony prevailed among the officers in command at Knoxville. Parson BROWNLOW's son says that GILLEM, regardless of danger, acted as few general officers could act under the circumstances. His gallant endeavors to stay the rout, he says, was unexampled. On Thursday last, Gens. AMMEN, TILLSON and GILLEM, were acting in concert, and after a little skirmishing, drove the enemy from Strawberry Plains, with no loss on either side.

NOTHING FROM SHERMAN.

Of course, nothing from SHERMAN since my last, giving you a full account of his start, and connecting incidents. I have met several officers who assisted in making good the wreck of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, and they assert that the work of destruction was made complete. In several places along the road this side of Kingston, the parties detached for the purpose of tearing up the track were shot at by guerrillas, who hovered in our rear. In one place, near Calhoun, some fellows were captured who were recognized by the soldiers and citizens as guerrillas and marauders of the worst class. There were four of them in all. They were bad men, and it was deemed judicious to send them to their account, like Hamlet's father, with all their imperfections on their heads. This was accordingly done. They were blindfolded and shot to death. Cassville, near the railroad, a dangerous place for honest men, was burned. This was a very pretty little town. I took breakfast there one time last Summer. Two elegant-looking ladies sat with me at the table. While myself and a friend were enjoying our repast, we were astonished to hear one of these elegant ladies ejaculate, "I wish the G—d d—d Yankees were all in h—ll!" It so happened that myself and friend about that time had eaten enough. I settled the bill, and we left. I guess it's a good thing that Cassville is among the things that were. It was a Babylon in a small way. A multitude of such incidents as these occurred along the road. The bridge at Resaca is not yet destroyed, but it will be if the guerrillas get too numerous. Everything but small private buildings and cottage houses was destroyed at Atlanta and Rome. Rome!—that's the grandest monosyllable in the English language.

AN UNPARALLELED SLAUGHTER—ONE HUNDRED UNION MEN BUTCHERED IN GEORGIA.

The bloodiest tragedy of modern times was enacted on Thursday last in Northern Georgia, at a small place called Elijah, sixty miles northeast of Dalton. A short time after the occupation of Northern Georgia by our forces last Spring, 125 men, deserters from the rebel army and others, formed themselves into a company, to be known as the Walker County Home Guards, and selected a brave fellow, named ASHWORTH, as their leader. Upon many occasions have these hardy men done the cause some service. Three hundred rebels, under TOM. POLK EDWARDS, on the day above-mentioned, came across ASHWORTH's party, and took them all prisoners, including Col. ASHWORTH himself.

A man named MARKHAM, who was an eye-witness of subsequent events, says that the prisoners, after their surrender, were marched into a patch of woods hard by, when just one hundred out of the hundred and twenty-five were selected, declared to be deserters from the Confederate army and sentenced, part of them to be shot and part of them to be hung. Preparations were immediately made to carry the order into execution, and two hours later the hundred poor fellows were launched into eternity, nineteen of whom were hung. The twenty-five that escaped death were released, after being compelled to witness the execution of their companions, upon the promise that they would join the rebel army. Col. ASHWORTH was taken away. As he was once a rebel soldier, there is no telling what unheard-of cruelties are in store for him. This TOM POLK EDWARDS is a citizen of Tennessee, and is respectably connected. Gen. STEADMAN, I learn, will make an attempt to have this gang of murderers captured. If he is successful, there will be more bloody work.

BENJAMIN C. TRUMAN.

CORRECTING THE ENROLLMENT.—The Kings County Board of Supervisors held a special meeting on Saturday evening, for the purpose of taking action in relation to the suggestion of the Provost-Marshal-General, and the recommendation of Gov. SEYMOUR, in respect to a correction of the enrollment lists. After considerable discussion as to the best course to pursue, a set of resolutions were finally adopted authorizing each Supervisor to reëxamine and revise the enrollment lists of their respective wards and towns. The business is to be entered upon immediately, for the purpose of checking the names of all persons legally exempt from military duty, and presenting the lists to the Provost-Marshals of the Second and Third Districts for their guidance.

FOUND DROWNED.—The body of a man was picked up in Gowanus Bay, on Saturday, by two boys who towed it to the foot of Thirty-sixth-street. The remains were supported by a live-preserver. In a handkerchief about the neck were $233 in greenbacks. The clothes, with the exception of pantaloons and shirt, were tied to the body. The deceased had light hair and a smooth face, probably about twenty years old. It is supposed that he deserted from some vessel and perished from the cold.

INCREASE OF RAILROAD FARE.—The different railroad companies of Brooklyn have petitioned the Common Council for permission to raise the rate of fare on their respective roads. The Presidents of the companies represent that they are not now paying more than expenses, and an increase is positively necessary, in order to enable them to furnish better accommodations than they are now able to do. The subject is before the Railroad Committee of the Board of Aldermen, who may probably be ready to report at their next meeting.

AN INFANT'S BRAINS KNOCKED OUT BY ITS FATHER.—On Saturday afternoon, a man named BERNARD FITZPATRICK, residing at No. 113 Morgan-street, Jersey City, in a building known as "Marine Terrace," while under the influence of liquor, threw a stove lid at his wife, which struck her infant daughter, 18 months of age, in her arms, and dashed its brains out. The child died in half an hour afterward. FITZPATRICK, upon realizing what he had done, left the house, threatening to destroy his own life, but was taken in custody shortly afterward at the corner of Provost and South Eighth streets, by Officers J. NUGENT and COTTRELL. An inquest was held by Coroner FARREL yesterday afternoon. MARGARET FITZPATRICK, wife of the prisoner, testified that her husband had been on a spree all last week, and when under the influence of liquor acted in a crazy manner and was quarrelsome; on Saturday he drank liquor, and in the afternoon slept about an hour on the floor, when he woke up and told his wife to send the boy out for more liquor; she refused, and told him that he was a drunken loafer, and then went down stairs with her infant; when nearly at the foot of the stairs, she saw the blood flowing from her child's head, and heard something drop on the floor, which she did not see, but believed it was a piece of the stove; she called for help and then returned to the room, when her husband exclaimed, "My God, have I done that to my child?" and then went out; the child died shortly after. Dr. WALTER J. HADDAN, who was called in, testified that when he arrived at the house the child was dying; he examined the wound and found a compound fracture of the skull, and a portion of the brains were protruding; the injury seemed to have been done by some blunt instrument; the wound was about three inches in length, and in an oblique direction, as though something had been thrown. The jury rendered a verdict that they believed that ELIZABETH FITZPATRICK came to her death by a blow from a piece of stove at the hands of her father. Upon the rendition of the verdict, Coroner FARREL committed the prisoner to the County Jail for trial.

INHUMANITY—DEATH OF A CHILD FROM STARVATION.—Coroner AVERY, of Hoboken, held an inquest last week, upon the body of a little girl named MARIA HOLLMANN, daughter of JOHN B. HOLLMANN, of Hoboken. From the evidence, it appears that Mrs. HOLLMANN and six daughters came as passengers on the German bark Dorette, from Bremen to New-York, and were subject to severe privations while on board, not having been supplied with any bread for three days and a half after leaving Bremen, Oct. 3. When they got a supply it was totally inadequate to their wants, and the general character of the provisions was poor and insufficient. The family were only supplied with four pounds of bread per week. It was also stated that there was no proper medical attendance on board the vessel. The little girl, MARIA, from privations experienced, died soon after arriving at Hoboken. The jury rendered a verdict "That deceased, MARIA HOLLMANN, who came as passenger on the bark Dorette, from Bremen to New-York, for want of proper food and want of any medical attendance, while on board the said bark; and from all the evidence produced, the said MARIA HOLLMANN came to her death from starvation."

MONDAY, Nov. 28—A. M.

The Trade of the past week was interrupted by the National Thanksgiving. The Import entries are light, and the business in both Foreign and Domestic Merchandise from store on a moderate scale. The Fall trade, now closing, has been less satisfactory than the same season in 1863. Importers have not been able to keep up their prices with the high rates of Exchange, owing to the reluctance of a large class of consumers of Foreign Goods to pay for the advance in Gold since last year. The same feeling is manifested in the diminished consumption of certain classes of Domestic Merchandise, such as Cotton Goods, &c. A fair business is doing in the withdrawal of Goods from Bond, and the Customs Duties keep up somewhat better than was anticipated.

The condition of the Money market is one of ease in supply and steadiness in rates, though the latter showed some inclination to fall to 6 ꝑ cent., near the close of the week. A number of the banks are depositing their surplus currency with the Treasury Office on 6 ꝑ cent. interest, and others are either lending on United States stocks at the same rates or buying these stocks and certificates of Treasury indebtedness on their own account. A large advance is going on in the gold-bearing stocks, partly from this cause and partly from the impression that their issue, for the present, is likely to be limited. There is also a more general appreciation of the advantages of perfect security and liberal and certain income from the 5-20s. and 1881s., which is inducing active speculation in them for higher prices the coming Winter and Spring. The speculation in the Gold Room, after the usual violent fluctuations of 10@15 ꝑ cent., closed higher than on Saturday week. The Railways at the Stock Exchange are generally lower and dull.

The Public Funds of the United States were again advanced at Saturday's market. The Six per Cents of 1881 and the 5-20 years' Six per Cents were in very large demand at rapidly rising prices. The Stock Exchange sales in the morning were at 112@112⅛ and 105⅞@106 per cent. respectively, while the subsequent transactions on Wall-street, before 3 o'clock, reached 112⅞@113 and 106⅞@107 per cent. respectively. The disposition to buy both classes of stock on speculation was more general than we have known it to be for four or five months past. The 10-40 years' Five per cents, sold up to 98½ per cent. Treasury Certificates were done at 98 per cent.

The Railway speculation at the Stock Board was a fraction higher, with rather a better tone than on Friday afternoon. The Gold Room advanced on the export demand for the day's steamers, which amounted to $1,489,000, chiefly by the City of London for Liverpool. The military rumors about HOOD's movements in Tennessee were also used to strengthen the market, and before 3 o'clock the speculators for the rise had, to all appearances, the complete control of the Room, advancing the bidding to 225 ꝑ cent. as against 219 ꝑ cent. at the same hour on Friday afternoon.

There was no second meeting of the Brokers under the standing Saturday's rule. The quotations at the close of dealings stood as follows:

LEATHER—The movements in this line, during the past week, Messrs. HULL & Co. review thus: "During the early part of the week the market for Hemlock Sole was active, and a fair amount of business was done, principally on orders; but since Tuesday the market has been rather quiet, owing, probably, to the recurrence of the annual Thanksgiving holiday. Prices have ruled firm throughout the week, and we make no material alteration in our quotations. The receipts from the tanneries continue fair, but are about equaled by the sales, leaving no accumulation of stock—the supply of prime overweights continuing insufficient to meet the requirements of buyers, and prices for that description are comparatively higher than for other kinds. For Oak Tanned the market continues as last noted, in moderate demand at firm rates. Upper in the Rough is in small demand at about old prices." We quote: Sole—Oak Slaughter and Salted, good Light, 47c.@50c.; Oak Slaughter and Salted, good Middle, 49c.@53c.; Oak Slaughter and Salted, good Heavy, 49c.@53c.; Oak Slaughter, light Cropped, good, 54c.@58c.; Oak Slaughter, middle Cropped, good, 58c.@62c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good Light, 37c.@38c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good Middle, 39½c.@40½c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good Heavy, 40c.@41½c.; Hemlock, California, good Light, 36c.@37c.; Hemlock, California, good Middle, 39c.@40c.; Hemlock, California, good Heavy, 40c.@41c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good Light, 36c.@37c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good Middle, 37c.@38c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good Heavy, 37c.@38c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, and Buenos Ayres, Damaged, all weights, 34c.@36c.; Hemlock, Orinoco and Buenos Ayres, Poor, all weights, 25c.@26c.; Hemlock Slaughter, in Rough, 36c.@38c.; Oak Slaughter, in Rough, 46c.@52c., cash ꝑ ℔.

NAVAL STORES—Have been in limited demand, including Resin, nominally, at $23@$38 ꝑ 280 ℔s.; Tar, at $10@$14 ꝑ bbl.; Spirits Turpentine, at $2 35@$2 45 ꝑ gallon.

OILS—Have been quiet heavy, including Crude Whale, at $1 45@$1 50; Crude Sperm, at $2 05@$2 15; Bleached Winter Whale, at $1 50@$1 65; Unbleached Sperm, at $2 40@$2 45; Linseed, at $1 40@$1 42; No. 1 Lard, at $1 90@$2 ꝑ gallon.

PETROLEUM—Has been rather lightly dealt in, the high prices claimed by holders checking operations. Sales have been made of 2,100 bbls. We quote Crude at 46c.@47c.; Refined, in bond, at 67c., and do. free at 87c. ꝑ gallon.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been very heavy and much cheaper to-day, closing decidedly in favor of buyers, who are not disposed to purchase freely at present. Sales have been made of 3,850 bbls., at $37 37½@$38, cash, and regular for New Mess, closing at $37 37½, cash, and $37@$37 25 for one year old Mess; $37 50 for Prime Mess; $37 50 for Thin Mess, and $36 87½@$37 25 for Prime; also $37 50 for Prime Mess, deliverable at the option of the seller in December, ꝑ bbl. Cut Meats continue in moderate demand, at 17c.@19c. for Shoulders; 18c.@21c. for Hams; sales, 325 pkgs. Bacon is quiet to-day. Tierce Beef has been recently in more request, mainly for export; sales have been reported of 2,500 tierces Prime Mess, mostly on private terms, but in part at $38; and 2,000 tierces India Mess on private terms. Beef Hams are in demand and firm; 280 bbls. sold at $28@$28 50 ꝑ bbl. Butter has been in moderate demand, closing at 44c.@56c. for poor to choice State, and 34c.@48c. for Western ꝑ ℔. Cheese is in limited request at 15c.@23c. for poor to prime, and 23c.@24c. for fancy ꝑ ℔. The movements in Provisions in Milwaukee, week ending with Nov. 22, Messrs. JONES & Co. review thus: "The receipts of Hogs reported for the past week aggregate 6,978 live and 711 dressed, against 10,974 live and 1,407 dressed for corresponding period last year. The receipts reported for the past 24 hours sum up 762 live and 176 dressed, against 1,150 live and 134 dressed for corresponding day last year. The packing this season to date amounts to about 25,000. The Hog market during the past week has been well sustained, live having sold at $9 25@$11 25 gross, according to weight and quality, chiefly at $10 25@$11 for lots averaging 200@260 ℔s., and dressed at $12@$13. The cutting has been almost altogether into barreled meats, they having thus far been the most profitable. Barrels are now becoming rather scarce, and have advanced to $2 10. Should this continue it may after awhile turn the attention of packers more to dry-salted meats. There has been a fair business doing in barreled Pork during the week, but at rather lower prices than previously current. Mess Pork has sold as high as $36 and as low as $34 50, and closes at about $35. Sales for week about 1,000 bbls. Thin Mess Pork has been but little inquired for, and is nominal, at $33 50. Prime Mess Pork has sold to the extent of about 3,000 bbls., at $32 25@$33, according to style of barrels and time of delivery. Extra Prime Pork has sold at $26 50@$27 50. A few short rib Middles are being made, and are held at 18c. for December delivery. For same delivery Cumberlands could probably be contracted at 17c. Long cut Hams continue quiet, at 17½c.@18c. Sweet pickled Hams in barrels and tierces are dull at 17c.@17½c. Prime Lard of very choice quality, kettle-rendered and steam-rendered kettle-dried, is offered at 21c. No. 1 at 20c. The Prime Lard made here is mostly kettle-rendered. The No. 1 is rendered by steam, and is generally branded Prime, with name of fictitious packer. Grease quiet at 14c.@17c. A few houses still continue packing Beef in a quiet way. We quote Mess $16, Extra Mess $20. Beef Hams at $22. Prime Tallow 16½c.@16¾c. Freight by propeller and rail to New-York, 95c. ꝑ 100 ℔s. Lake Insurance 1½ ꝑ cent.; all rail, $1 15.

SKINS—A fair inquiry prevails for Goat, chiefly from manufacturers, who, however, appear very reluctant to pay the rates demanded by holders; sales 50 bales Tampico, 40 bales Matamoras, and 139 bales Payta, all on private terms. For Deer there continues a moderate demand from manufacturers at about the previous quotations, and some holders have shown a disposition to meet the views of buyers. Sales of 10,000 ℔s. California, 8,000 ℔s. Central American, 3,000 ℔s. Para, on private terms. The stock continues ample.
